Local officials watch

Highland Park may have blight problem solution

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

The future of a Romulus subdivision dotted with boarded up, abandoned homes owned by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) may rest with the outcome of a program in Highland Park, Mich., to eliminate a similar housing problem there.

Romulus city officials concede they are watching with great concern the results of a HUD-directed effort in Highland Park to make residential areas containing abandoned homes more attractive despite the eyesores. Although in operation only a month, the Highland Park project to board up deserted homes, maintain surrounding property and discourage vandalism has raised high hopes from city officials there.

"We think the program will help considerably," said Milton Downs, Highland Park Housing Department director. "It is more or less a service by the city, because it keeps down the gripes from most of the people who have to live next to these abandoned houses."

"The housing department used to get so many calls about those houses, but not anymore," he said.

In essence, the city serves as 'caretaker' of the HUD houses, but has nothing to do with their rental or resale.

'...we get a percentage from each house for taking care of it...'

HUD still handles that chore. However, the city receives a percentage from HUD for each house maintained, averaging about $30 per month per house, Downs added.

But he continued to stress that the percentage isn't the important aspect of the program in the city's opinion, rather the partial elimination of unattractive properties and unkempt landscapes.

Romulus Urban Renewal Director George Wilhelm said the city is "very much so" scrutinizing the pilot program in the Wayne County city of 32,000 people, just 4,000 larger than Romulus.

"Of course, each city has to be dealt with separately," he said, adding that perhaps some aspects of the Highland Park program may not be feasible for Romulus.

John Chihan, industrial coordinator for the city, said he also is interested in the program.

Chihan, like Mayor Tery Troutt, called The Meadows subdivision near Eureka and Middlebelt roads a "detriment," because of the number of deserted homes in the area.

The subdivision contains about 500 homes and Troutt said that about 70 of them are abandoned. More than half that number are owned by HUD, with the other half soon to become HUD property, he added.

Highland Park's Downs said his city, just 2.9 miles square, has more than 200 abandoned homes and anticipates maintaining them all. He added that a money pinch in the city's housing department triggered inception of the pilot program.

"Originally, a smaller program similar to ours was in operation on Detroit's east side," Downs said. "The reason Highland Park got into it was because President Nixon put a moratorium on public housing construction and we had to get funds to keep our offices solvent."

"So we get a percentage from each house for boarding it up and taking care of it, but we do not get into the real estate end of it."

Once a house is deserted, it takes 18 months before the government can gain it back to resell it. "A lot of paperwork is involved before it can be sold again," Downs continued. "The owners cause a lot of trouble when they pull up and leave after getting behind in their mortgage payments."

Officials have criticized HUD for its liberal policy of granting mortgages several years ago, which resulted in many financially - or socially-incapable homeowners who soon desert.

Unlike Highland Park, in which the deserted homes are scattered throughout the city, Romulus' problem homes are considered mostly in the Eureka-Middlebelt vicinity.

Romulus is in the process of applying for its share of grant money from the federal 1974 Community Development Act, which will total about $157,000, Chihan said. He added that all or portions of the money could be channeled toward restoration and maintenance of the HUD homes, but said the amount "wouldn't go very far."

"I'd rather see the $157,000 go to a parks and roads program and see the city get a pilot project like Highland Park's," Chihan said.

Jaycees crown new Junior Miss

Winner receives scholarship and title

Amid all the splendor expected from such a pageant, Donna Lynn Parker was crowned Romulus' 1975 Junior Miss in ceremonies Saturday night at Romulus Senior High School.

Miss Parker, a senior at the high school, received more judges' points in the pageant than 12 other contestants and was awarded a Board of Regents Scholarship to Eastern Michigan University along with her Junior Miss title.

Finishing close behind the National Honor society member were first runner-up Janet Milatz, second runner-up Susanna Maziariski, third runner-up Melanie Franklin and fourth runner-up Joyce Sitarski.

Miss Parker succeeded 1973 Junior Miss Jo Lynn Goboly in the Romulus Jaycee-sponsored pageant. There was no pageant in 1974.

The new Junior Miss, daughter of James and Shirley Parker of 16215 Brandt, is secretary of the Future Homemakers of America at the high school, along with her membership in the National Honor Society, and works actively in church and civic projects.

She said she hopes to attend either Eastern Michigan University or the University of Michigan study laboratory technology.

Miss Parker and the other 12 contestants were judged in five categories: scholastic achievement, creative art and talent, physical fitness, poise and appearance, and a judges interview Saturday morning.

For the creative art and talent segment, Miss Parker played a ukelele and sang.

Miss Maziariski collected the most points in the physical fitness and creative art and talent categories, while Miss Milatz won the scholastic achievement area. The winner of each of three categories received a $25 bond, donated by the National Bank of Detroit, Manufacturers Bank and Security Bank.

Each runner-up also received a dinner for two at the Ramada Inn, Metro Inn, Hilton Inn and Holiday Inn in Romulus.

Miss Milatz, the first runner-up, is the daughter of Frank and Edna Milatz of 36840 Porter St. She also is a National Honor Society member, senior class secretary and salutatorian at Romulus Senior High. Janet enjoys music, embroidery and all sports. She plans to attend Eastern Michigan University.

Miss Maziariski, second runner-up, is the daughter of Richard and Mary Jo Maziariski of 37770 Wick Rd. She is treasurer of the student council at the high school, president of the Foreign Language Club, member of the high school choir and Square Dance Club, and is the school's 1975 Homecoming Queen.

Susanna, holder of a 4th degree brown belt in Karate, hopes to attend either the University of Michigan or Interlochen Music Camp in Interlochen, Mich.

Miss Franklin, third runner-up, is the daughter of Charles and Mary Franklin of 6363 Colorado. Melanie is a member of the National Honor Society, girls varsity basketball team and softball team members.

She also enjoys sewing, cooking, volleyball, tennis and badminton. Melanie hopes to attend Michigan State University.

Miss Sitarski, fourth runner-up, is the daughter of Casimir and Veronica Sitarski of 8512 Middlebelt Rd. Joyce is a Distributive Education Club of America member and French Club member at Romulus High, and enjoys cooking, boating and biking.

She plans to attend either Central Michigan University or Eastern Michigan University and study biology.

The other eight contestants were Judy Kennard, 38655 Ecorse Rd.; Maryann Nelson, 35150 Goddard; Terri Renke, 11452 St. Aloysius; Tammy Sweatt, 8687 Hollywood; Belinda Cardwell, 27943 Ann Arbor Court; Patricia Miller, 10451 Sterling; Mary Ann Ryznar, 12394 Wahrman; and Michelle Lynn Fontaine, 30431 Cherry.

Commission rescinds decision to shoot deer herd at airport

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

Bowing to public pressure and sentiment, the Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC) has consented to allow Detroit Zoo employees to try their hand at capturing a herd of deer at Detroit Metropolitan Airport, which will be released elsewhere.

The decision by the WCRC, which operates the airport, came Monday in the wake of considerable public criticism of the commission's plan to shoot the deer.

Officials say members of the herd, estimated to number from 20 to 60 animals, have wandered onto the airport's main runway on occasion and could cause a serious accident with a landing or departing plane.

WCRC Executive Director James Davey said two corrals would be constructed by today on the southern fringe of the airport near Eureka to catch the deer, hopefully lured to the pens by the scent of apples and hay. The cyclone fences will be eight feet high to prevent the deer from jumping over them, he added.

Although Davey granted Detroit Zoo employees the chance to try to capture, tranquilize and ship the deer to other areas of the state, he also made it clear that any deer straying onto or near a runway in the meantime would be shot.

"I am not prepared to risk one human life for a deer," Davey said in a press conference at WCRC offices. He added that after the trapping period, any deer not captured will be shot if it ventures near a runway.

He and WCRC Public Relations Director Louis J. Sugo admitted they feel the trapping efforts will only "thin out the herd" and not remove all the deer. Worse yet, Sugo said he believes the trapping may not work at all, since the deer are well fed in the wooded airport area surrounded by a 6-foot fence.

Stolen computer unit is subject of appeal

The owner of a recently stolen Analogy Training Center Computer (ATC) used in "flight simulation" education this week issued an appeal for the return of the $2,000 airplane dash-type instrument with no questions asked.

Virginia Hammond, a resident of Knob-On-the-Lake Apartments, issued the plea following the theft of the 37-pound ATC unit from her parked car last weekend.

The car was parked at the apartment complex. It was entered by someone who broke the car's door lock.

Mrs. Hammond, a former teacher in New Jersey and currently representing Analogy Training Computers, Inc. of West Long Branch, N.J., said the ATC unit would be of no value to a person who is not interested in taking up a career in flying.

"If the person who took the instrument from the car is interested in flying, I will be glad to help. After all, aviation is a marvelous opportunity," Mrs. Hammond added.

For crisis center

Church sponsors fair

An opportunity to purchase that needed Christmas present and at the same time assist Belleville's crisis-counseling center, "The Number," will be available to area residents Saturday at the United Presbyterian Church in Belleville.

The church, located at 1900 Belleville Rd., will be the site for the Holiday Arts and Crafts Fair which will be held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. under the supervision of personnel from The Number and others.

The work of 20 area artists will be exhibited for sale to those who attend the free admission arts and crafts fair.

The proceeds from the event will be used in the operation of The Number.

Aquatics club elects officers

The Tiger Swim Club of Belleville has elected a new slate of officers.

The swim club, which is affiliated with the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) and whose membership consists of area high school students, elected the new officers at a meeting recently held at Belleville High School.

The officers are: Douglas Liedel, president; Dr. John MacDermid, vice-president; Joanne Frey, treasurer; Sam Vichey, secretary; and Carol McManus, membership chairman.

Elected delegates to the AAU were Bud Susterka and Bernie McManus.

After the election, a short business session was held. Club members discussed the holding of a marathon swim to help finance a swimming pool at the White House and decided to hold open meetings on either the first or second Monday of the month with parents and coaches.

Scholars sought by Rotary Club

Michigan District 640 of the International Rotary will have three Rotary Foundation Fellowships available for the 1976-77 year. District 640 includes the Belleville area.

The four types of study offers are:

—Graduate fellowships for those with a bachelor's or equivalent degree between the age of 20 and 28.

— Undergraduate Scholarships for those with a minimum of two years of university work in the 18-24 age group.

Technical training awards for those with secondary education and at least two years work experience in the 21-35 age group.

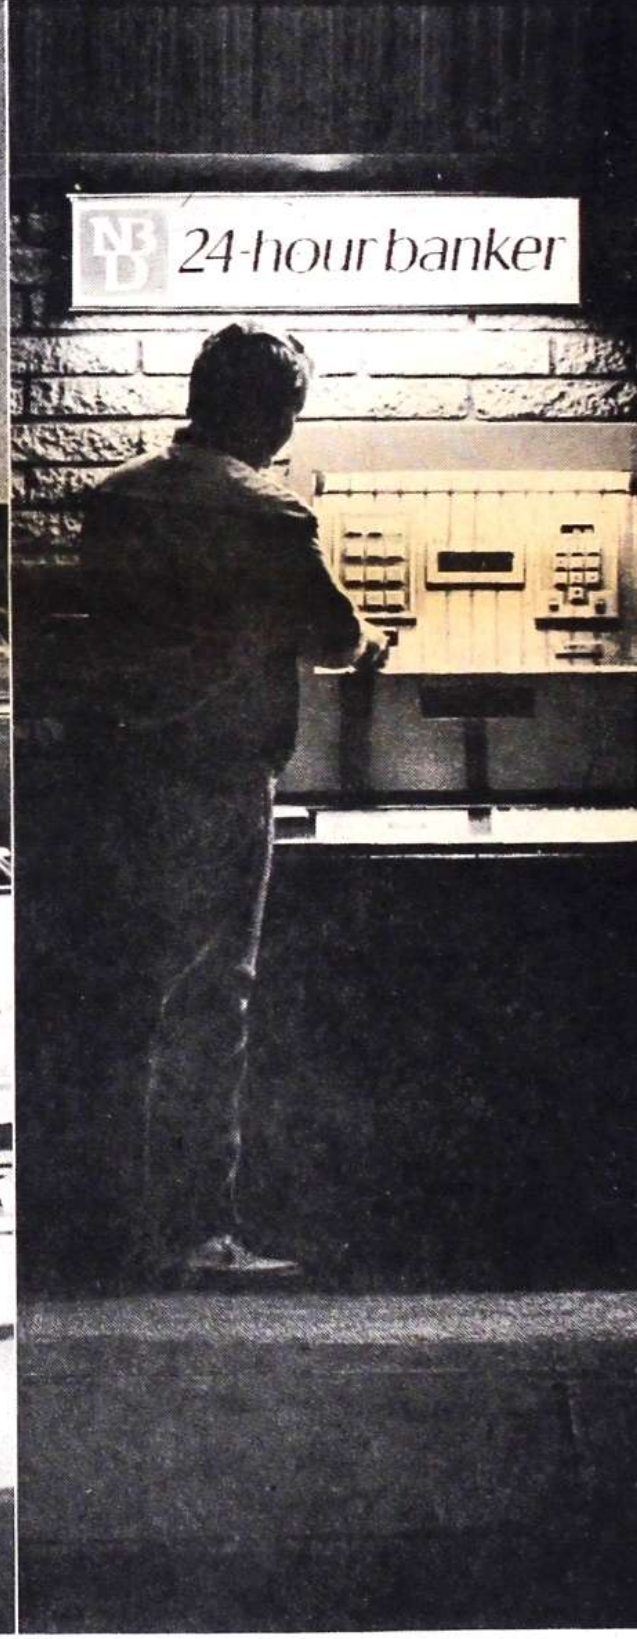

Awards to teachers of handicapped.

For further information submission of eligible persons, notify James Sayre of 6585 Morton Taylor Rd., Belleville. Telephone number is PA 8-3715.

Members of the Belleville Rotary Club have been asked by District 640 officials to submit local recommendations for the fellowships.

Violinist performs in recital

Music student Anna Alimpich of Belleville will play the violin in a free recital at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo at 8 p.m. on Nov. 23 in the Oakland Recital Hall on campus. The recital is open to the public.

For action on 'unfit' poetry

Attorney advises outraged parents to wait

By JEAN CALMEN
The Roman Special Writer

An attorney for the Romulus Community School District has advised parents concerned about "objectionable" poetry handed out in the senior high school to wait and see what action is taken when the administration completes its investigation.

The attorney, Dick Mosher, said no attempt should be made at this time to influence the school board, since the board would have to act as an impartial judge if any charges were filed.

With several parents pressing to know when some action might be taken, Carl Morris, president of the board, said it will be soon. "At the next board meeting, you will hear of some movement in this matter," he added.

The next regular board meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Nov. 25.

At a special board meeting Monday night, 12 parents, asked about progress in an investigation the board had promised on Nov. 11.

The investigation concerns poetry allegedly handed out by a teacher for study and discussion in a literature class. Parents called the material "offensive and inappropriate."

Mosher said he had advised members of the board and the administration not to answer questions.

He added that the matter was subject to discipline under the teacher tenure act and that a certain procedure must be followed:

—Any charges must be filed by a member of the administration.

—If charges are filed, the board must hold a hearing not less than 30 nor more than 45 days after the filing.

—In the event of discharge or reduction in compensation, the teacher has the right to appeal to the tenure commission.

—If the parties do not feel the decision of the tenure commission is just, the matter can be taken into court.

Mosher said if charges were filed, the board would sit in judgment and must therefore remain impartial.

He continued by saying a hearing could result in no penalty, a suspension for some period of time without pay, discharge or possibly some other alternative.

He said discharge would have to be the result of a very serious incident if there had been no previous bad record.

"I am sure that if the administration files charges, it will be made public," Mosher added.

If it does not, he said, anyone who feels strongly about it can complain later.

Asked about the source of the poems and the reason for their presentation to the students, Mosher added that a full disclosure of facts could not be made now.

The parents waited in the hall for an hour and 45 minutes while the board was in closed session before they asked their questions. They expressed dissatisfaction as they left the meeting.

Betty Brewer, who said her 11th-grade daughter had brought home copies of the poems, said she did not understand the procedure.

"If my 16-year-old daughter had taken these poems to school, she would have been automatically expelled," she added. "When a teacher does it, nothing is done."

County won't shoot

"The whole principle of trapping is luring hungry animals with food in the pen," he continued. "These deer are well fed, though, and it may be difficult luring them into the corrals."

The WCR's decision to postpone a plan to hunt the deer with rifles was suspended after people as far away as Seattle objected. The plight of the deer has gained national attention.

The original decision to shoot them was made when officials decided a trapping program would take too long and cost too much. The WCR has, however, agreed to pick up the tab for the construction of the corrals.

Another wrench was tossed into the WCR's plans when it was denied a high-powered firearms permit by Romulus Mayor Pro Tem Beverly McAnally Friday.

Mrs. McAnally, filling in for Mayor Terry L. Troutt who was on a deer-hunting trip of his own, said the permit request would have to be made before the full City Council next Tuesday.

Romulus enforces sign ban

Those political campaign posters you invariably see posted on trees, poles and walls well after an election has ended aren't just unsightly in their weathered appearance.

They may also be illegal.

And as a result, the Romulus City Council has directed the Wayne County Sheriff's Department to begin citing violators of a city ordinance prohibiting political signs from being posted on public property.

"If you drive around the city, you'll see posters still up from four years ago," said Councilwoman Joan Lee. "I think it's up to the ordinance enforcers to prevent this, and I want the people to know and be aware that they can put pressure on their city leaders who are responsible."

Mrs. Lee added that the council recently sought an ordinance prohibiting signs of any sort on public property, then were surprised to discover the city already has such an ordinance.

Mrs. Lee's concern was over the fact that she feels the citizenry should be aware of the ordinance and not hesitate to demand enforcement of it.

"This is the only way to do it. Politicians unhappily respond to citizen pressure," she said.

Mrs. Lee added that Mayor Terry L. Troutt is "100 per cent" in favor of enforcing the ordinance.

Subdivision residents work to change image

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

Their subdivision branded as a low-income, transient residential area blighted by constant abandonings of homes by families who cannot meet mortgage payments, the majority of homeowners in the Meadows near Eureka and Middle Belt are attempting to battle that image.

So says Romulus City Councilwoman Joan Lee, who lives with her husband Robert in the subdivision recently blasted by Mayor Terry L. Troutt for its "cancerous" growing number of abandoned homes.

Mrs. Lee said the subdivision contains about 500 homes, with some 50 abandoned and another 50 families on their way out.

"The 400 families that are left are united in an effort to clean up the mess and get a concentrated effort to upgrade the area," she added. "Of the 450 families left here, maybe 400 really care and are struggling to show it."

She said many homeowners are adding garages and room additions to their homes in an effort to make the area the once-attractive place it was — before the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) became lax in its screening process of mortgage applicants about four years ago, she continued.

So now, Meadows residents are taking it upon themselves to make their subdivision an attractive place to live again.

The residents have cooperated with the Wayne County Sheriff's Department in successfully ridding the area of nearly all burglaries and vandalism in the last year.

Mrs. Lee estimated that incomes of Meadows residents range from $8,000 to $20,000, and that homes range in value from $25,000 to $35,000. She said the majority of abandoned houses are on "two or three streets" out of about 25 in the sub. She cited Meadows Street as perhaps the worst plagued street.

Eviction notices ruled out

A moratorium on evictions and garnishment of wages has been issued by 34th District Court Judge James B. Stone.

The court order states that no eviction from possession of residential real estate or order for garnishment of wages shall be entered by the court from Dec. 13 through Jan. 16.

Pressure, obstacles face legislators

By DON HOENSHELL
Panax Editorial Director

When the role is called in Lansing there will be 31 legislators who have never pushed a voting button taking the oath of office.

There will be 27 new House members and four senators who have been elected to the legislature for the first time.

But only those who have lived this life will know what they face, what pressures lie ahead and what obstacles there will be in achieving the dream of representative government.

Suddenly a legislator.

He might be banker, a school teacher, a druggist, a farmer, a housewife, a mechanic, an engineer, a salesman, a clergyman or you name his line.

Back home he had the pressures of family, church, a professional organization, a service club, the community, the labor and business groups and his own lifestyle, his conscience.

Now, from that setting and heritage he is transmuted by politics into another kind of being, losing none of the old pressures but acquiring more.

There will be duties to his party, to his caucus leadership, to the supplicants after justice and to people who are both poorer and richer than he ever dreamed.

And there, too, is the duty to politics, that courting of the whimsy of the electorate when at times the wishes purporting to be those of the majority conflict with what he feels is right.

These changes all come in an atmosphere which renders a new legislature least able to fend and cope with himself.

Suddenly a legislator...

Most new members by their election have achieved more prominence than they ever had to handle before, more people with more money and prestige seeking him out for their own purposes.

Political leaders they've only read about or seen on television suddenly are seeking their counsel, stating their case and asking for a vote.

Everything in Lansing hinges on which button a legislature pushes on his desk and whether the light after his name on the voting board shows green or red. Green means aye and red means nay.

And all of this happens to a new legislator when he is required to be away from his hometown and his family, alone until he builds his own base in the capitol.

There have been tragedies.

Young men have come to Lansing eager and full of ideals, insisting that the $18,050 a year salary is much less than they could earn in their own business or profession.

They come to Lansing because they have a deep feeling about what they can do for their districts and, superimposed over provincialism, what they can do to help the state as a whole.

Even some oldtimers cling to the fantasy after their ties to their hometowns have been drained and, in some cases, snapped. They look upon Lansing as their home and their jobs as their right.

Disillusionment comes quickly for the less steadfast when ideals must be submerged for political purposes. Few people are strong enough to stand up against the system.

For the system has ways of retaliating against an overly-indignant member.

His bills don't come out of committee, he is left off guest lists, his office is less plush and the camaraderie of fellows-in-the same boat is missing.

There are those who make the transformation and force the system to serve them, but they are the rare ones.

Some are defeated and return to jobs paying more than their legislative salaries, but other sort to menial jobs as assistant sergeants at arms, or committee aides or janitors.

Others leave voluntarily when the realization dawns that their families and their own souls are more important than a lifetime in the legislature.

The strong ones beat the system and their careers have an impact on generations yet unborn.

The lessons of Lansing are obvious for a legislation thinking beyond the $18,050 a year and for the voters who send them there.

Most new members by their election have achieved more prominence than they ever had to handle before...

As we see it

Youth are a credit

One often hears adults criticize juveniles, but many young people in Belleville and Van Buren Township are a credit to their community. Within the past month these young people have worked on two projects which are creative and very worthwhile.

The first project found students from Belleville High School and South Junior High School competing in the Belleville Area Improvement Association store window painting contest.

Many of the youngsters could be seen running down Main Street in Belleville to work on the windows...they ran, according to observers, because they did not want to waste time walking. They wanted to paint, and they proved they could be very creative.

The next project found youngsters walking for the March of Dimes. Although many adults joined in the recent walk-a-thon, the majority of the more than 550 people who participated were students from South and North Junior High in Belleville. Those youngsters gave up many hours gaining money pledges for each mile they walked and they gave up a good part of a Saturday to complete the 20-mile project.

Say what you want about juvenile problems... but admit that there are many youngsters in the community we must be proud of.

South Africa unjustly banned

The humiliation should outrage Americans

The United States is noted for its sense of fair play, but today all Americans should be outraged at the humiliation heaped on one of our staunchest supporters and friends. The Republic of South Africa has been unjustly and illegally banned from the United Nations General Assembly.

Now that she has been insulted and humiliated in the most childish and irresponsible way, South Africa's best course may be to withdraw entirely from the United Nations (UN).

In the opinion of Panax newspapers, no one with any sense of fair play would blame the South African government if it took such a step. Sadder though that would be in its implications.

By pulling completely out of the UN, South Africa would force the Afro-Asian bloc and the world's communists and hysterical liberals to face up to the fact that unless they halt their irresponsible actions, they eventually will force a break-up of the world organization. What happened to South Africa today could happen to Israel tomorrow or to any other members state which refuses to bow to the current radical chic line which in the long run benefits no one but the communists.

Already South African Prime Minister John Vorster's government

recalled its UN ambassador Mr. Pik Botha and has decided to withhold South Africa's current contribution to the UN budget, due to be paid before Dec. 30. The amount involved comes to a little more than $1 million. A sum South Africa's tormentors will never make up. Some of the nations voting against South Africa have been in default of their dues from the time of their admission.

Through a procedural maneuver, African, Asian, and communist delegations prevented South Africa's representatives from participating in any way in this year's general assembly meeting. Never before in the history of the UN had a member state been so treated.

Although South Africa still remains a member of the UN, she may not take part in proceedings of the Security Council or of the specialized UN agencies which control their own membership.

Only Vorster's government can answer this big question: Is it still worthwhile for South Africa, hat in hand, to try to keep explaining her case to members of the world body who refuse to listen?

As recently as Oct. 30 the United States, Britain and France cast a triple veto in the Security Council which killed efforts to expel South Africa completely from the UN. The three western powers made it clear that they opposed South Africa's internal social policies, but stressed that South Africa presently was moving toward a liberalization of her domestic racial and diplomatic policies. These trends might be blunted by ill-considered actions against South Africa in the UN, they said.

Clearly, the American-British-French position made such good sense that in any sort of reasonable world the Afro-Asians and their communist allies would have let South Africa alone and turned the attention of the UN to some of the globe's really pressing problems, such as the threat of widespread mass starvation.

But, no. Another, more limited, effort to humble South Africa was launched, and this time it succeeded, for this year, at least.

Unfortunately, the blast at South Africa came at a time when detente in the southern portion of the African continent seemed closer by far than it had for years.

In a series of careful diplomatic moves, Prime Minister Vorster and President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia have been moving toward an open dialogue geared to several of the outstanding differences between their two countries.

Also, South Africa's calm reaction to the sweeping developments in Mozambique seemed to promise that the independence of that old Portuguese colony would not be accompanied by the strife and confusion which made a nightmare of the Congo's independence in the early 1960s.

South African officials in Pretoria speak of their government's efforts to create "a diplomatic opening to the north." They predict a great many of evaporate if South Africa can establish orderly, friendly diplomatic and commercial relations with her black African neighbors to the north.

What, an American reader might ask, has all this to do with the United States? The short simple answer is — plenty. South Africa is rich in raw materials for U.S. industry. And the United States, in return, exports manufactured goods to South Africa.

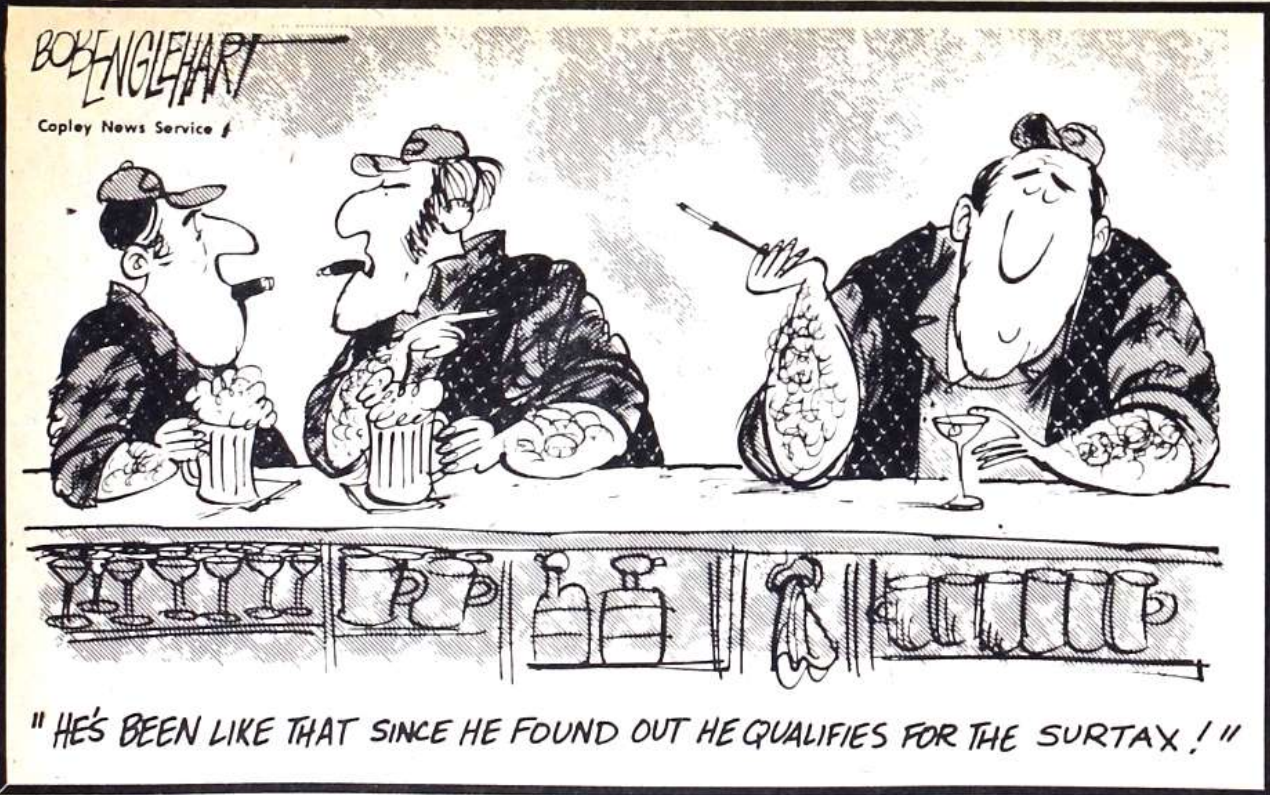

Even more important, South Africa contains one of the world's great strategic sites — the Cape of Good Hope. Some of the mid-frozen bureaucrats in the U.S. State Department have a hard time grasping the idea, but the fact remains that an increasing Soviet naval presence in the Indian Ocean makes it essential for the United States and her allies to see that Moscow does not dominate this vital link between the Indian and south Atlantic oceans.

Our own security calls for nothing less than the closest sort of cooperation with South Africa's defense establishment. Our own sense of fair play is outraged at the actions of the United Nations.

REPENT

And give up materialism

By ARCH BOOTH
President, U.S. Chamber of Commerce

The Luddites are alive and well and working at the Environmental Protection Agency.

The Luddites, you may recall, were organized bands of English rioters who felt threatened by advancing technology and so - about 1811 - began invading the new textile factories and breaking up the machinery.

They had good reason to feel threatened. Many of them were losing their jobs to the new machines. But as we now know, in the long run it was the substitution of energy and capital for human labor that made possible a higher standard of living and shorter working hours for everyone.

Now, it appears, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) wants to turn back the clock.

EPA's Chicago regional office has been distributing an expensive, 4-color, 3-fold pamphlet, "The Time Has Come," urging us to repent our materialism before it's too late.

Three themes intertwine in a disorganized way throughout this publication:

1. We're running out of raw materials ("resources").

2. We're running out of energy sources.

3. We'd be happier sacrificing our high material standard of living "to maximize the quality of life," whatever that means.

It has some serious internal contradictions.

At one point, for example, we are told that it takes "enormous time" ("40 to 60 years") to introduce new energy technologies. At another point, we are warned not to count on the development of new energy sources. In other words, it takes too long to develop the new energy sources that we are not going to find.

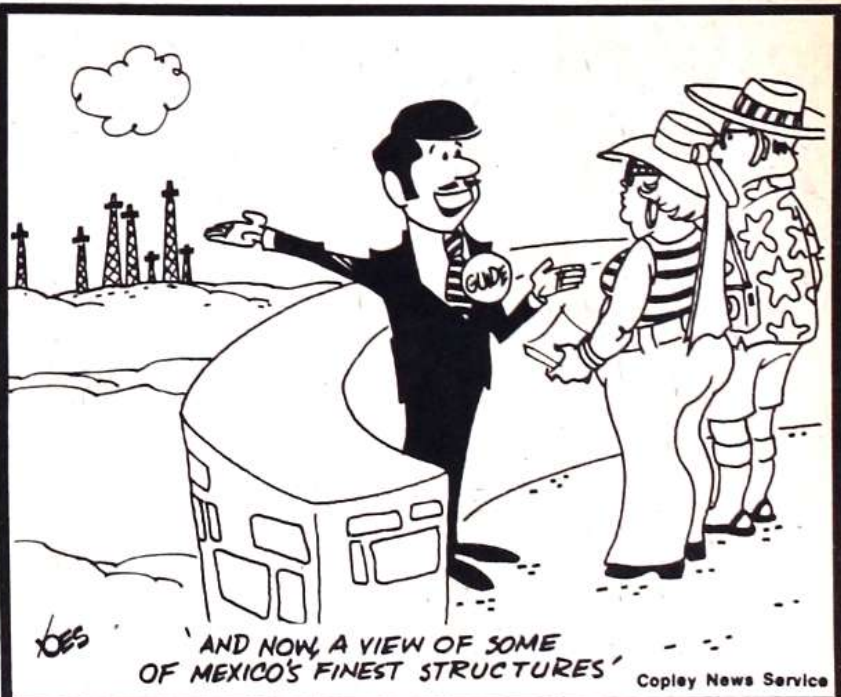

Surely there is someone on the EPA staff who is aware that our present energy sources are good for at least 40 to 60 years.

And yes, I fearlessly predict that we will develop the necessary new energy technologies. The potential of solar power and fusion power virtually is limitless and we easily are within 40 years of making both practical. That's a very good thing, because as EPA should know, it takes a great deal of energy to clean up pollution (and, for that matter, to produce fancy pamphlets telling us we are wasting resources).

As far as running out of other raw materials in concerned, we will run out of some, find substitutes for some, find new sources for others and recycle the rest. Given enough energy, we eventually will be able to make just about anything we need from whatever raw material is available. Human ingenuity is not a finite resource.

If you would like a good example of a labor-intensive economy, take a look at India. Our free time, our ability to support cultural institutions, our medical science - all are products of an energy-intensive economy, not alternatives to it.

GIFTS OF LOVE — Members of the Bethany Baptist Church Missionary Society of Belleville work hard to finish sewing and preparing clothing for shipment to needy families in Mexico in time for Christmas. The charity project is part of the group's effort to support a mission school in Mexico which teaches children from remote villages surrounding the church outpost. — The Enterprise-Roman photo.

For Mexican families

Church-goers make clothes

The Missionary Society of the Bethany Baptist Church of Belleville was kept busy during the month of October sewing articles of clothing to be sent to a mission school in Mexico. Children from remote Indian villages attend the mission school which is located at Cuernavaca, Mexico. Bethany Baptist Church helps to support the mission school by contributions to the Rev. Ralph McCoy and his family, who operate the school.

The clothing, along with small toys which can be used by Spanish speaking children, were shipped to Mexico last week so they may arrive in time for Christmas.

"All of the clothing items are new and most are handmade by the ladies of the church," said Margie R. Coleman of the missionary society.

According to a letter received by the church from Mrs. Ralph McCoy: "Most of the clothing we get is used and having new dresses and clothes is something special."

Bethany Baptist Church, located at 810 E. Huron River Dr., is active in its support of foreign missionaries. In addition, the church supports the local community by operating a non-profit day care center, Mrs. Coleman said.

And wait for birth

Anxious friends watch mare

The current condition of a prize-winning 12-year-old mare with foal is the daily concern of neighbors and friends of Diane Clemens of 10534 Jackson St., Belleville. Miss Clemens is the owner of a 12-year-old grade mare named "Vel Dia Gee" who has won 72 various ribbons in her class during horse show competition including 4-H horse shows in the states of Michigan, Indiana and Ohio. The ribbons were all won in 1972, according to Jean Clemens, Diane's mother, who presently is employed as a school bus driver for the Van Buren Public School District.

"Velvet," as the mare is called, is pregnant and being boarded at 44680 Bemis Rd., Belleville, where she was bred with an Arabian Stallion.

In addition to being pregnant, Velvet is being watched closely by her owner and others because of occasional problems with breathing.

"Calls are coming almost daily inquiring about the condition of Velvet," Mrs. Clemens said. "Many asked if the big event has occurred or requested to be notified."

She added that the veterinarian doesn't expect any action until the first part of December.

Meanwhile Velvet is being watched closely as "anxious and interested" persons wait.

Belleville soprano to sing with choir

A select freshmen choir at the University of Kansas will include a student from Belleville during the next academic year. She is Linda Amerman, the daughter of the late Althea Amerman of 155 E. Columbia, who will perform as a soprano in the group.

The first performance of the year was held Oct. 31 in the Swarthout Recital Hall on the college campus. Director of the choir is James Ralston, associate professor of choral music.

Chamber board increases by 4

The Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce has increased its Board of Directors from 12 to 16 members to meet the Chamber's increasing activities and planned community programs.

The increase in the number of persons who direct policy and operation of the chamber, was approved at last week's meeting of the Board of Directors held at the Chamber's office, 116 Fourth St., Belleville.

The new Chamber directors are Neil Banks, bank officer at the Belleville branch of the National Bank of Detroit (NBD); Stephen J. Kuchta, local agent for the Sentry Insurance Co. and former Van Buren Township trustee; Robert Beck, owner of Beck's Grocery and Party Store on Ecorse Road west of Belleville Road; and Edward Kapalanski, retired businessman.

A new Chamber of Commerce treasurer will be appointed following an audit, it was reported.

Other members of the Board of Directors are John Barber, Hazel Bigham, Dale E. Kaulitz, Harold Roberts, Howard R. Stinehour and Dick Wood.

Serving as the Executive Board are Peter W. Doyle, president; Kurt Atchinson, first vice-president; Rae Thom, second vice-president and Barbara Rogalle Miller, secretary. Executive secretary is Theodore F. Kuckelman.

Members of the Executive Board also are members of the Board of Directors.

This year's chairman of the Chamber's annually sponsored Christmas program and parade to be held on Dec. 14 is board member Kaulitz, who also is superintendent of Van Buren Public School District

To take complaints

Consumer protection goes out-county

The Wayne County Consumers Protection Agency has initiated an out-county program to take complaints from local residents.

Investigators from the agency will set up offices on alternating third Tuesdays of each month in the communities of Sumpter and Van Buren townships.

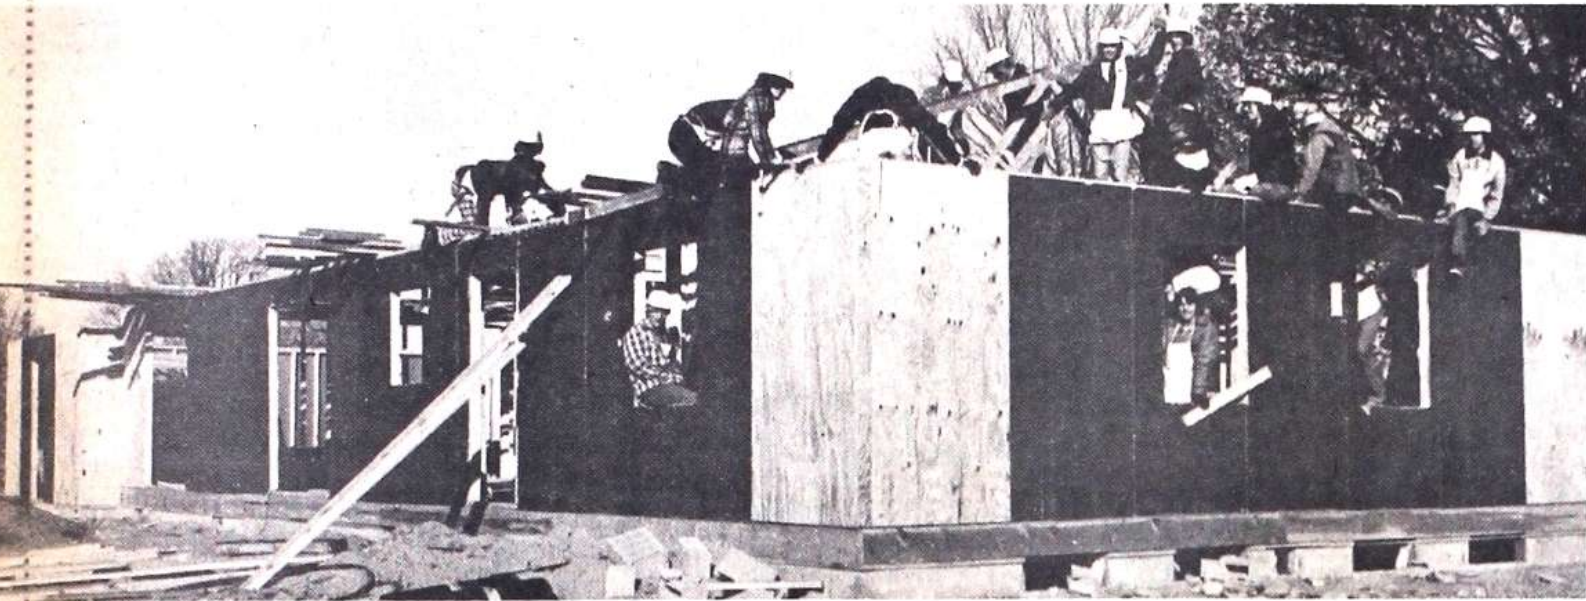

The service is offered as a convenience to consumers who cannot go to Agency's central Detroit office, located at 356 E. Congress St., or who prefer not to file their complaints by mail or phone. Because of limited staff the investigator will be in a particular area once a month rotating each month among two or three neighboring communities. On Tuesday of this week investigators were at the Sumpter Township Hall and on Dec. 17 will set up office at the Van Buren Township Hall, 46425 Tyler Rd. According to Sue Hoover, director of information, the investigator will gather pertinent information from consumers as they come in and, in most cases, will refer the problem to the legal staff of the Consumer Protection Agency. If time permits and the case action is appropriate the investigator will try to solve the problems on the spot, she said. The Agency pursues complaints with mediation, civil and criminal litigation.

The operation and facilities of Romulus' newest medical outlet, Metro Specialty Clinic, was a featured presentation at the November meeting of the Romulus Elementary School PTA. Introducing the new medical facility to PTA members and guests was Joseph Buzo, director of Metro Specialty Clinic, located at 7845 Middle Belt Rd. at I-94 in Romulus.

in Romulus was a spaghetti dinner sponsored by the mothers of students attending the kindergarten class.

The $390 profit from the dinner was used to purchase equipment for the school's kindergartners.

The dinner program, which was under the supervision of Martha Winnard and Diane Wilshire, was well attended. The spaghetti dinner included rolls, salads, cake and beverage for $1.

For those who couldn't eat at the school, dinner carry-outs were arranged. The sauce used by the diners was homemade from harvested tomatoes, it was reported.

The 60 kindergartners at the school now have physical education equipment, educational games, easels and large building blocks according to Sandy Cook, representing the sponsoring mothers.

"It certainly was the best deal in town. I feel these parents should be given a great deal of credit for the work they went to for our kids," said Mrs. Cook.

Rarely does one buy a house for the heating system it contains. After all, who sees it except you? Even though it may not be on display, every hour it runs costs you money, especially today when all fuels have become excessively expensive. If the unit is over ten years old and burns oil, make sure it has a modern oil gun with the new design head. If it burns gas, make sure the burner is properly sized. If it is a hot air system, the blower must have sufficient capacity to reach all rooms, and be sure the filter is clean. Have the thermostat recalibrated. Above all, be sure that all windows are tight and that insulation is complete.

When you buy or sell property with NORWOOD REALTORS, 898 S. Wayne Rd., Westland, 326-4500 & 30519 Ford Rd., Garden City, 522-2900, you can be sure of complete and competent real estate service. Students study sound with eyes, not ears

The students in the science classes of teacher Bruce Mendenhall at Belleville's

South Junior High School are seeing pictures of sound as well as hearing it.

The use of the oscilloscope in explanation of frequency and wavelength gives the student a visual concept of the theory, according to Mendenhall.

Belly dancing booms in VB

Belly dancing is beginning to boom in Van Buren Township according to Jeffery G. Clark, director of the Van Buren Township Parks and Recreation Department.

The Parks and Recreation Department's first belly dancing class has attracted 19 area women.

The 8-week class began on Oct. 24 at Belleville High School. Another and second 8-week class is scheduled to get under way during the first week in January, Clark said.

The township has hired a new belly dancing instructor. She is Jeannie Tramonten of Ann Arbor. Mrs. Tramonten is well versed in the art, history and technique of belly dancing, Clark added. The cost of the belly dancing course is $12.

Clark added that a new dancing program titled "Mother and Tot" will begin on Dec. 6.

This program will include creative as well as modern dancing programs.

For further information on the new dancing class and registration contact Clark at 699-2001.

His students see how various sounds are graphically represented and change shape with the pitch and volume change.

Some of the sounds that have been investigated and studied by the students were musical instruments, voices, tree frogs, sound demonstration recordings and tuning forks of several different frequencies.

"The idea that students benefit more if the material is lab or demonstration oriented, rather than mostly just reading, is the motivation behind the use of sound equipment like the oscilloscope," said Mendenhall. "It makes the theories more real and believable," he added.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

Member By Invitation NSM National Selected Morticians

HAROLD REDISKE, HAROLD REDISKE, JR.—DIRECTORS

When you read or hear the news these days, do you ever wonder whatever happened to the moral fiber of our country? Whatever happened to our concepts of right and wrong, our concepts of honesty and decency? Whatever happened to our spiritual essence? Whatever happened to cause us to condone what we know to be wrong with a shrug of the shoulder or lame excuse that "Everybody is doing it?"

Why do so many people strive for fame, power, influence and the 'quick dollar'? Whatever happened to disapproval of lying, cheating and stealing? Why do we allow the glitter of gold to outshine with wealth of mind and spiritual perception?

Are these questions old fashioned? If so, is it not time to revert back to old fashioned ideas that hard work combined with honesty of purpose, integrity of character and self-sacrificing service is sorely needed to restore honor and esteem to our nation?

Of trustee action

Clean water is goal

Administrative steps to eliminate water problems in the Bemis Road area east of Sumpter Road in Van Buren Township have been initiated by the township Board of Trustees.

At a recent session the trustees approved the taking of bid proposals for the installation of 2,000 feet of water line on Bemis Road.

According to Township

Clerk Patricia Cullin, residents in the area have complained about getting muddy water.

The installation of the proposed water line was held up pending the finalization of an agreement on the water line with adjacent Sumpter Township.

In other matters the trustees instructed Township Attorney John Axe to check with the Wayne County Drain Commission on the proper resolution required to set up an emergency drain cleaning in the township under the provisions of the county's drain code.

The trustees also:— Denied a request made by Charles H. Lavery, president of the Wayne Sand and Gravel Co. to reduce the bond requirements of his sand removal permit.

Lavery had asked the Township Board to waive the bond requirement of $150,000 called for in the township's new ordinance and, if not, to reduce the bond requirement to $20,000.

Romulus film program to include 'Batman'

Auditorium will not be shown this Saturday, but will resume on the following weekend.

The 5-week film program, sponsored by the Romulus Jaycees, Romulus Recreation Department and local school organizations, has two weeks remaining on its schedule. The movies for Nov. 30 will be "Batman" and "Cricket on the Hearth," while the Dec. 7 features will be "Mr. Magoo's Christmas Carol" and "Li'l Greyneck."

Show time for the movies is 1 p.m., and they run until about 3:30 p.m. Doors open at noon.

Cost for admission is 35 cents per child or five admissions for $1. Tickets are sold at the door only. Children must be accompanied by an adult.

The number of campers and hikers in the U.S. has more than tripled in the past 5 years according to a Los Angeles backpack firm. A primary cause is the growing interest of women and families.

Of real fantasy

'Watership Down': a classic

By RIC BOHY
The Enterprise-Roman
Book Reviewer

In recent years a large, and somewhat young, cult of fantasy enthusiasts has sprung up around the classic J.R.R. Tolkien trilogy, "The Lord of the Rings."

Now comes another English novelist who, with not nearly so ambitious an undertaking as the massive Tolkien collection, appears to be winning a great portion of that audience over to his work with a charming tale of life in a community of rabbits.

Richard Adams' "Watership Down," which not surprisingly has held a firm spot on best-seller lists across the country for the past several months, provides a welcome opportunity to escape from a worrisome post-Watergate existence to a land where rabbits seek only to graze in peace on sunny hilltops and tell tales of ancestral folk heroes.

Where Tolkien asks his readers to suspend their disbelief to the point that dragons, gnomes and wizards are as real as Iowa farmers inflation, Adams asks us only to believe that rabbits can communicate and love peace as much as anyone or anything else.

The story deals with a community—or warren—of rabbits who, forced from their home by an impending disaster, set out to find a new place for a fresh start in life.

Although the characters converse largely in English—probably a concession of the author due to the fact that few readers speak lapine language—the text is peppered with words from their own tongue. A "hrududu," for example, is any man-made machine which rolls on wheels and makes loud frightening noises, filling the air with choking gases as it goes.

El-ahrairah, represented as the patron saint rabbit of all rabbits, is the central figure of several folk tales related by one storyteller in the novel. Possessing all the courage, speed and cunning needed to get himself out of any scrape, El-ahrairah and his adventures lifts the wandering rabbits spirits each time they are about to give up their odyssey.

And the adventures reach that point of despair many times. Foraging foxes and hunters, bloodthirsty dogs and mischievous cats are at every turn. As if all of the rabbits' natural enemies were not enough, they are forced into a confrontation with the tyrannical leader of another warren those entire existence depends upon his ability to bully other rabbits into doing his will.

"Watership Down" is a superb work of fantasy which leaves the reader wishing that Adams had not ended the tale with just one book.

The adventures of Hazel, Fiver, Pipkin and Thylthi, must surely become a classic piece of literature on a par with "The Lord of the Rings," "The Wind in the Willows," "Peter Pan" and "Alice in Wonderland."

But it is much more than a story for children. The rabbits, with all their worries, fears, desires and flaws, tell a great deal about us all.

'Mice and Men' opens Dec. 11

The Hilberry Repertory Company's production of John Steinbeck's prize-winning American drama, "Of Mice and Men," officially opens Dec. 11 following preview performances on Dec. 6 and 7.

"Of Mice and Men" is Steinbeck's own dramatization of his novel of the same name. Both were published in 1937, and the play was staged the same year in New York by George S. Kaufman and won the New York Drama Critics' Circle Award. It was filmed in 1939 and made into a musical in 1958.

It tells the moving story of two rootless men in Depression-era rural America. Lennie, a gentle, simple-minded strongman, and George, his self-appointed protector, sign on as farmhands, planning to save enough for the down payment on a farm of their own.

But the combination of Lennie's physical strength and mental weakness cause repeated trouble and eventual tragedy.

The Hilberry cast is head by Al Hamacher as Lennie and Ralph Pochoda as George. The cast also includes Ellen Tobie, Colby Schneider, James Kisicki, Wayne S. Turney, Jeff Boudov, Michael Tylo, Mark Pint, Rex Ellis and Christopher Coucill. Director is N. Joseph Calarco.

Ticket information may be obtained from the Wayne State University Theater Box Office at 577-2972.

Van Buren holds first snowmobiling session

The Van Buren Township Parks and Recreation Department has initiated its first snowmobile safety class.

More than two dozen youngsters ages 12-16 have enrolled in the 10-hour course that opened Monday at the township hall, 46425 Tyler Rd., Van Buren Township.

The Parks and Recreation Department's snowmobile safety course is being held in cooperation with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

The course is required by state law for all 12 to 16-year-old youngsters who wish to operate a snowmobile without parental supervision.

At Monday's session, Jerry Trees of the Hamilton Hardware Store in Belleville, brought a snowmobile to the class. He dismantled the snowmobile and while doing so explained the various aspects of the machine's operation and care.

Classes will be resumed tonight and continued on Friday and Saturday.

Jeffrey G. Clark, parks and recreation director, said the township will begin 8-week group lesson guitar classes on Dec. 4.

For veterans' bonus

Mahalak grateful to voters

The recent move by Michigan voters to approve bonuses for Vietnam veterans was met with pleasure by State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak (D-38th Dist.) a key proponent of the issue in the state legislature.

"I am pleased that the voters of this state overwhelmingly passed this measure showing our servicemen and women we appreciate the sacrifices they made during a long and unpopular war," said Mahalak, whose district includes Romulus, Huron and Sumpter townships and portions of Wayne and Taylor.

"I have worked since 1971 on the passage of this measure, holding many hearings and meetings of the military and veterans' Affairs Committee, of which I am chairman.

"Passage of this ballot proposal (Proposal B) dictates that the legislature take immediate steps to implement the wishes of the people," he added. "A vehicle to do that is now in the House Appropriations Committee after being reported out of my committee to the floor of the House."

Mahalak said House Bill 4423, which he introduced in 1973, would place jurisdiction of paying the bonuses to individual veterans in the hands of the adjutant general of the Michigan National Guard, the same as post World War II and the Korean conflict.

"If this measure is passed before the end of this session, the veterans of this state could begin receiving their bonuses by early 1975," he said. The state would sell the bonds as needed, up to the maximum approved by the voters Nov. 5 - $205 million.

He said veterans will receive bonuses according to the time they spent in service and whether that service was in the United States or a foreign country. In the case of deceased veterans, their beneficiaries will receive the bonus, he added.

State helps libraries

As part of a new program to help local library systems improve their services to disadvantaged persons and to bring about greater cooperation among libraries, the Ypsilanti Area Public Library will receive $15,200 in federal funds.

The funding is part of a State Board of Education program to allocate $478,120 in federal funds to 48 public library systems and public libraries.

John W. Porter, state superintendent of public instruction, said the federal funds will help libraries reach people in remote areas, reservations, ghetto neighborhoods, hospitals, penal in remote areas, reservations, ghetto neighborhoods, hospitals, penal institutions, youth camps and schools for the mentally and physically handicapped.

Dial down. It adds up.

Dial down your thermostat and you'll save money. All you have to do is consistently maintain lower temperatures in your home.

Let's look at a few facts.

1. You can save about 3% for every degree you permanently dial down during a heating season. For example, set your thermostat back five degrees, leave it there, and you'll save about 15%.
2. If you regularly set your thermostat back each night, you can save, too—more than 1% for every degree dialed down for an eight-hour period. For example, set your thermostat back seven degrees, and you'll save about 9%. Set it back ten degrees and save about 12%.
3. Of course, you can save even more by leaving your thermostat down every day and dialing even further down at night.

4. You can save still more Gas and money by dialing down to 55 degrees while you're away from home for vacations or long weekends.

Any time you dial down for more than five hours you save. Just how much you'll save depends on several factors. How many degrees you dial back. How many hours you maintain this lower temperature setting. And the weather. The colder the weather, the greater the savings.

Our Gas is your lowest cost fuel. Use it efficiently and you'll save even more. So dial down. The savings can really add up. Conserve America's vital supplies of Natural Gas, too.

Richards, Cindy Horchem, Cindy Murray, Dana Leabu and Tracy Smith. The displays included the ocean floor and living organisms found in the ocean.

School projects focus on ocean environment

The sea around us changes our weather, gives us food and a relaxing vacation. But is man, through his activities, destroying the oceans of the world?

This question formed the basis of a 6-week study of oceanography for all eighth graders at Belleville's South Junior High School.

Other topics explored by the students were the formation of the oceans, their size, depth and bottom structures, currents, tides, plant and animal life, tsunami waves and sea quakes.

The students, at the completion of the 6-week study, worked on speech projects including visual aids built by the students which brought together individual topics and focused the students' attention on the ocean as an indispensable part of their environment.

Parade buses to run

The southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) is offering special park-and-ride round-trip transportation to the Hudson's Thanksgiving Day Parade in Downtown Detroit on Nov. 28.

SEMTA riders will view the parade from a special area on Woodward at Mack Avenue, and the cost of the round-trip ride is $1.25. Tickets must be purchased in advance, and children under 12 years old must be accompanied by an adult.

Buses will leave the Dearborn Youth Center, Michigan at Greenfield, and Dearborn Heights Park, 1801 N. Beech Daly, at 8:30 a.m. Tickets may be purchased at Muirhead's, 22370 Michigan Ave.,

Sumpter passes new rule

The enforcement of rules and regulations concerning building in Sumpter Township will now be in accordance with the provisions of the Michigan State Construction Code, officials said.

The Sumpter Township Board of Trustees have approved a formal resolution and ordinance to adopt the state construction code as that of the township.

The township building department has been designated as the enforcing agency to discharge the responsibilities of the township under the state construction code, according to the ordinance.

The new state construction code effectiveness in the township will begin upon the publication of the resolution and ordinance.

Gowing wins old crystal ball

By TOM MOORADIAN

Dale Gowing has been around these offices less than two years, but he has programmed his mind to pick winners.

For example, last week the astute student of prep football warfare picked a fantastic eight out of 10 correctly, including the Glenn triumph over Wayne Memorial, the Franklin victory over arch-rival Bentley and the East massacre of crosstown rival Garden City West.

That's the way it has been for Dale most of the 1974 prep season. The panel of Experts was forced to pursue the fleeing young predictor who emerged with an 80-21 record to capture The Coveted Crystal Ball, emblematic of "prognosticating prowess."

How does Gowing decide on his picks?

"Gee," says the champ, "if I give away my secrets, then all you guys will know. But I don't use a needle, you can be sure of that."

So, we bow in awe at our champ and hope he drowns in all the milk we owe him.

And how did the others finish? Trailing the leader was maverick Jim Carravallah who managed to end the season with a 72-28 ratio; following, in order, were: Bert Osterberg (72-29), Bob Prokop (71-30), Henry Cantin (68-33), Jeff Holmquist (64-37), Tom Mooradian (64-37) and Ric Bohy (58-43).

During the entire nine weeks only one panelist came up with the elusive "perfect week." The honor went to Carravallah.

Do I hear someone ask me to explain my poor showing?

O.K. Is it my fault our local teams don't play the way I predict them?

And, anyway, who wants to win an old crystal ball?

LET'S WRAP up the day on a philosophical note and quote Alabama's Bear Bryant on the subject of football, the only kind he knows: winning.

Bryant said: "I've never talked about this before but to me head football coaching is managing people. And that's not an easy job. It's not a day or night job, it's a 24-hour-a-day job, gentlemen..."

"And, of course, the most important thing is trying to recruit people who can manage to do a little better than their best..."

"And, the great players are gonna be great but that ordinary player who doesn't know he's great...The real test, in my humble opinion, of a football coach is being able to make that ordinary guy play like a winner, play like an All-American."

And, in this writer's humble opinion, there are only a few who can accomplish that goal. That's why the Bo Schembechlers, the Woody Hayeses, the Ara Parsegians are rare breeds.

Grab for the best you can get!

Why settle for less than the best you can get? Your car is important to you, and so is your money. And your money goes farther on a better car when you trade at HENDERSON DODGE.

Top prep grididders honored

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Teamwise, neither Belleville, Romulus or New Boston Huron had any sort of football season to speak of. But the three local high school grid teams had seven individuals who earned the respect of rivals and coaches and those seven were named today to the coveted 1974 All-Area football team.

Belleville's contributions to the defense include tackle Jeff Beck, linebacker Dave Dapsi and defensive half-back Sam Robinson, while Coach Keith Emerson's Tigers are represented on offense by end Mike Stanley.

ROMULUS has two players on the mythical team. They're Andre Parsons, a defensive halfback and defensive end George Butler while Huron's top-notch lineman, Bill Grover, holds down one of the defensive tackle slots.

Grover was tagged as "the best defensive lineman ever

Franklin's Lovich repeats as grid Coach of Year

How do you stop George Lovich's football teams?

That's a question many a rival mentor has asked over the past seven years. And only a few-none this season-have found the answer.

The Livonia Franklin head football coach posted a perfect 9-0 record en route to the Northwest Suburban Conference championship and his first perfect season this year.

Lovich's accomplishment earned him Coach of the Year honors.

"It was great, really great," said Lovich who became the first area coach in over a decade to repeat as the area's top coach. "Winning is beautiful, but I think that playing the game, coaching the players is something else."

"IT'S FUN really. Win or lose. It's fun. And that's why

I enjoy doing what I'm doing."

However, the veteran Franklin coach won't be back with the Patriots next season as head coach. He was named as the high school's athletic director earlier in the season. Lovich said he will step down as coach to devote all of his time to the new job.

"Hey, I know I'm going to miss coach," said Lovich, "it's been a part of my life so long that I know I will not be able to just walk away from it."

"I'M HOPING that something can be worked out so that I can stay on as an assistant coach or something," Lovich added.

During his tenure as head coach, Lovich has amassed a 49-9-1 won-lost-tied record and has captured the league championship twice outright and has tied once.

"When you get a bunch of excellent kids like I have over the years it becomes much easier to do the job," pointed out the 36-year-old Lovich who earned the top coach award a year ago when his Patriots finished 8-1 on the season.

"And, of course, we have had an excellent coaching staff and anyone will tell you that half of the job is done when you have guys on your staff of the caliber of Armand Vigna, Dale Ruthenberg and Tom Tucker."

How do you stop Lovich, you say?

caused a handful of others. He sacked the quarterback behind the line of scrimmage seven times.

For his feats, Grover also has been named to the all-league, all-Monroe County and downriver teams.

"We had a very dismal season this year," said Rossow, "but one of the bright spots was Grover's consistent performance. Despite numerous injuries he kept himself in the lineup."

"Bill's a Big 10 prospect if I have ever seen one," Rossow added.

BUTLER completed his third varsity campaign for the Eagles and wound up this year as the leading tackler. He counted 46 solo tackles and accounted for 53 assists while covering two fumbles.

"George is an intelligent and quick player who could play for just about any team," said first year Romulus Coach Tom Baldwin. "He's one of the best I have ever coached."

Parsons has played two years of varsity competition and this year was in a class by himself. He didn't give up a long pass in his zone in the nine games he started and also managed to come up with 49 solo tackles and one interception.

"Andre is going to be an excellent small college prospect," the Eagle coach said. "Both Andre and George co-captained the Eagles and were the team leaders this season."

"We're going to miss them next fall."

STANLEY was a solid two-way performer for the Tigers this season. He snared 11 passes from quarterback Mark Verrot, two of those going for touchdowns.

Stanley's receptions counted for 198 yards and his efforts on the gridiron earned him a share of the Belleville Most Valuable Player Award.

"Mike made a lot of big plays for us this year," said Coach Emerson, "he's one player who you could rely upon to give 100 percent all the time."

Townsend says no total shutdown

Chrysler Corp. chairman Lynn Townsend said Monday the firm plans "substantial plant closings" in December because of poor car sales, but added there will be no "company-wide shutdown."

The statement came following a meeting with Detroit Mayor Coleman Young on Monday at Chrysler headquarters. Townsend called together top United Auto Workers officers at that time to discuss the closing of the firm's Jefferson Avenue assembly plant.

Townsend's assurances that there would be no shutdown of Chrysler's entire operation came in the wake of rumors late last week of an indefinite end to assembly line operations. The company official also said that 50,000 cars will be taken out of the firm's production schedule for the next two months, but added that no massive layoffs would result from the slowdown.

Leadership

The president of United Auto Workers Local 961 last week expressed disappointment in local union leadership when no one but newsmen attended a Nov. 21 and 22 strategy session regarding the threatened shutdown of Chrysler Corp. assembly plants.

Jordan Sims, Local 961 president, said the lack of representation at the two sessions was probably due to "the local union leaders getting too used to dealing with management and not spending enough time with the grass roots membership."

Sims said he plans to attempt several things to help alleviate layoffs at Chrysler. He said he would like to see a short work week instituted in an effort to keep as many men working as possible, if only for a very short period each month.

"I'd rather see a maximum amount of people at work even if they worked just one week a month," he said.

The union leader added that he will seek political pressure to extend employment benefits for the duration of any layoff period in the event that a shortened work week is not realized.

Uniroyal lays off

Spokesmen for Uniroyal Tire Co. Friday said the company would lay off 1,000 employees—or about 25 per cent of its work force—from the Jefferson Avenue plant in Detroit for an indefinite period.

Uniroyal said the action was necessary because of a decline in demand for passenger car tires, other than steel-belted radial ply units.

We advertise these products because they're new and convenient for you. And because they bring added revenue that helps keep the cost of your basic telephone service down.

NEW BRANCH OPENS—As one of two new branch offices recently opened by Wayne Federal Savings, the branch in Lake Wood Shopping Center at 2069 Rawsonville Rd., will serve the Belleville-Ypsilanti area. The other office was opened in the Canton Township area. Both new offices offer full financial service, and the Canton office, shown here, is complete with drive-up window service.

Constable Berry gets Water Department job

The appointment of Michael W. Berry, recently elected Sumpter Township

constable, as the township's new Water Department superintendent unanimously was approved by the outgoing administration.

Berry's appointment is on a temporary basis until such time as the township's newly elected officials can act on the appointment.

In the November general election township voters elected former supervisor Elmer Parraghi to the supervisor's post. Parraghi along with Township Clerk Robert Demski, Township Treasurer Louis Banotai and trustees Cecil Hall and Marlowe Fowler assumed their township posts today.

Berry still retains his position of township constable, it was said.

Other matters considered at the last session of the outgoing administration included an authorization for Township Clerk Clarence J. Hoffman, Jr. to sign a rubbish removal contract with Connie Beaudrie of the Beaudrie Trucking Co.

Officials meet on future plan

The long-term future planning of Wayne County including the communities of Belleville and Van Buren Township will be the topic of discussion of a joint meeting of area officials on Dec. 11.

The meeting will be conducted at the Van Buren Township Hall, 46425 Tyler Rd., starting at 7:30 p.m.

Government administrators from both communities, including Mayor Royce E. Smith of Belleville and Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer, will be in attendance.

The Wayne County Planning Commission in a recent communication to out-county communities stated that during the past several months the planning commission has engaged in a series of contacts with the communities included in Wayne County.

The communication also said there have been meetings and visits and other forms of communications dealing with the direction which should be pursued in the long-term planning for the county.

"There has been full recognition of the fact that basic decisions having to do with the county's development must be made at the local level," said Francis P. Bennett, director of the county commission. "However, many aspects in the planning field demonstrate that local and county-wide planning efforts are related closely."

Student's bright idea used to buy uniforms

Students at North Junior High School who are participating in the school's band activities have initiated a fund-raising campaign to purchase new band uniforms.

The school located at 47097 McBride St., Belleville, is the only secondary school in the Van Buren Public School District lacking band uniforms, according to Band Director David DeClark.

Band members hope to raise $1,000 in a door-to-door sale of packages of Sylvania light bulbs ranging in power from 50 to 150 watts or higher. The students will be offering the light bulbs at prices below prevailing market prices.

The North Junior High School band currently has 125 members. During the 1973-74 school year, the students raised $1,000 toward the band uniform fund, DeClark said.

Order Eastern Star holds 85th installation

The 85th installation of officers of Belleville Chapter No. 73, O.E.S. was held at 8 P.M. at the Masonic Temple in Belleville Nov. 8.

The meeting was called to order by the retiring Worthy Patron, Vincent Goodnuff. The Bible was presented at the altar by Roberta Welt, assisted by the past matrons. Following the entrance to the chapter of the retiring Worthy Patron, Edna Mae Florian, and her officers, the Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison led by the chaplain, Dorothy Kellas. The American flag was presented in the East by Robert Welt, the pledge of allegiance given and the national anthem sung.

Distinguished guests introduced were: Fay Ingall, grand committee member on drills; John Cockwell, Member of the cleft committee; Marie Lazlo, grand representative to Ontario in Michigan; Worthy Matrons and Worthy Patrons; Mildred Beers, president of Wayne County Association; past matrons and past patrons; installing officers, Ruby Clayton and Rose Ann Welt; marshal, Elda Bohl; chaplain, Eva Luper; organist, John Cockwell; soloist, Dortha Vance and auxiliary officers, Frances McAter.

OFFICER INSTALLED for the ensuing year were: Worthy Matron, Roberta Pond; Worthy Patron, Walter James; Asst. Matron, Lenore Gaddy; Assoc. Patron, Roger Papciak; secretary, Katherine Spring; treasurer, Cora Bradshaw; James; chaplain, Juanita Akers; Marshall, Edna Mae Florian; organist, Virginia Montroy; Adah, Ruth Hall; Ruth McAtee; Esther, Connie Gubaci; Martha, Florence McKelvey; Electa, Kay Parker; warder, Hylma Smith; Sentinel, Robert Collins; color bearers, American flag, Robert Welt; Christian flag, Katherine McCollum; O.E.S.

flag, Mary Lou Van Cleve; ritual degree, leader, Elda Bohl; Adah, Janet Papciak; Ruth, Aldine Potter; Esther, donna Collins; Martha, Norma Tyler; Electa, Donna Skeans; candidate hostesses, Eva Luper and May Chapman; host and hostess, Robert and Rose Ann Welt and ritual and drill instructor, Rose Ann Welt.

Following speeches by the newly-installed worthy matron and patron, the past matron's and patrons' jewels were presented by Eva Luper and Robert Welt. Donna Hall presented the new worthy matron with her gavel, a gift from the Hall Children. Other special gifts were presented to the officers.

MRS. POND

At a ceremony around the altar the past matrons invited the junior past matron to join their group and presented her with a gift.

The new worthy matron was invited to be a guest for her year and the retiring worthy matron and worthy patron signed the Bible.

FOLLOWING introductions of family members and announcements, the meeting was closed by all repeating the "Mizpah."

Lunch was served in the dining room by neighbors and friends of the worthy matron.

Cosmetic firm gives 'lift' to 60 at VB Convalescent Home

The Van Buren Convalescent Center in Belleville was on the list of area nursing homes when Mary Kay Cosmetics, Inc. decided to conduct one of the first documented psychological research studies in the field of gerontology, aimed at determining the correlation between how you look and how you feel.

Over 60 women patients and staff members at the Van Buren center received free facials as well as a basic skin care set and other beauty aids totaling some $40 each as a gift from the company. Pat Baughman, Belleville representative of the Mary Kay firm, was among the consultants taking part. Several consultants from other areas also assisted.

"The point we have tried to prove is that older women are still interested in how they look," said Dr. Marvin Ernst, director of the Dallas Geriatrics Research Institute. "The better they look, the better they feel."

And the Mary Kay company feels that the preoccupation with youth today is perhaps over-emphasized. "You're as young as you feel and nothing shows this more than a glowing complexion," says the attractive chairman of the board, Mary Kay Ash, who, herself, has 15 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

"Very often many of our senior citizens don't have the proper opportunity to carry out a regular regimen of grooming. Therefore, we decided to help provide that opportunity," stated Mrs. Ash.

Other nursing homes involved in the experiment included Woody's Rest Home in Romulus as well as those in Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Wayne, Livonia, Inkster and elsewhere.

Study Club visits 'Needlepointe Tree' for bargello lesson

Eighteen members and guests of the Belleville Woman's Study Club had dinner and an evening out Nov. 13 when they journeyed to Ann Arbor to "The Needlepointe Tree" for a lesson in bargello, the art of Florentine needlework which has been revived and become much used in recent years. Catherine the Great is thought to have brought the art to Florence when she went to Italy as a bride in the middle ages. Much of the fine tapestry and furniture in the museums of Florence are done in this manner.

Now adapted to modern materials and colors, bargello is a versatile art enjoyed by men as well as women.

The Study Club will have for its next activity, a dinner-theater party, at North Junior High School on Nov. 20. Mrs. Don White is chairman of the event.

Romulus troops hold investiture ceremony

An investiture ceremony was held Nov. 6 at St. Aloysius School with two units, Girl Scout Troop No. 476 and Brownie Troop No. 471, taking part.

The Rev. George Kowalski gave the invocation after which Kitty Hamel, Brownie leader, and co-leaders, Pat Oszust and Joann Cieciek, welcomed and pinned six new troop members: Jodi Faller, Cheryl Oszust, Linda Cousino, Melissa Ringuette, Becky Conger and Kimberly Witherow.

Five girls "flying up" and being awarded their Brownie wings were Cheryl Nightingale, Sheryl Paton, Theresa Saval, Beth Ann Roberts and Lynda Knapsiak.

Welcoming the "fly-ups" into Girl Scout Troop No. 476 and awarding them their Girl Scout pins were Jan Peters and her co-leaders, Sue Knasiak and Edie Witherow.

Also invested into Troop No. 476 and receiving pins were Maggie Hatten, Dawn Grasso, Teresa Arnold, Karen Fortinski, Debbie Haire and Terry Blatney.

It's a boy

Larry and Esther Hurst of 46323 Arkona Rd., Belleville, have a new son whom they welcomed Oct. 25 at the Women's Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The 7 lb.-9 oz. heir was named James Oliver. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Collett of Ypsilanti and Mrs. Stella Ferguson of Belleville.

Community news

Visiting fills calendar for Belleville residents

By Mrs. Joseph Spring 699-4021

Mrs. B.P. Hopson of Belleville Road, was a guest of her son, Thornton, and family at their home on Torch Lake last week-end. The occasion was in celebration of Mrs. Hopson's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Stout of 174 Clarence Street, Belleville, are the proud parents of a baby girl born at Beyer Hospital, Ypsilanti, Oct. 18, weight 5 lbs.-3 oz. She has been named Kimberly Lynn.

Grandparents, all of Belleville, are Mr. and Mrs. Amos Johnson of Roland Street and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Meadows of Martinsville Road.

On Thursday of last week Miss Josephine Simon accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deering to South Lyon where they spent the afternoon and evening with former neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Smith, who are now living in Colonial Acres Community.

Belleville week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Ransom of W. Huron River Drive were the former's parents, the Charles Ransoms of Brookfield, Ill.

Jerry Rawls, son of Mrs. Esther Rawls of Detroit and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoag of Liberty Street, Belleville, enlisted in the U.S. Army and left on Nov. 8, for Ft. Knox, Ky., where he will receive his basic training.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deering spent last week-end in Ontario, Canada where they called on relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Teall at Seaforth, and spent Saturday with Mrs. Hazel Teall and family at Vienna.

Mrs. Frank Hoag of Liberty Street, Belleville, spent several days this past week with the Paul Hoag family of Ann Arbor and the Donald Hoags of Jackson.

After having been a patient at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn for several days, Mrs. Everett Welt was able to return to her home on E. Huron River Drive, Belleville last week.

Mrs. William Smigalo from East McKeesport, Pa. was a guest over the week-end of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Florian of Liberty Street, Belleville.

Quiet spot

The quietest place is the "dead room" in the Bell Telephone System Laboratory at Murray Hill, N.J., where 99.98 per cent of reflected sound is eliminated.

It's a date

Smorgasbord, bazaar set

Florida honeymoon follows Johnson-Gramlich wedding

A two week honeymoon in Florida followed the Oct. 18 wedding of Judy Ann Gramlich and Robert Phillip Johnson II both of Belleville. The newlyweds on their return took up residence at Apartment 8 Church St., Belleville.

St. Anthony's Catholic Church was the setting for the 7 p.m. nuptial rite read by the Rev. Raymond S. Skoney before some 200 assembled relatives and friends.

Two bouquets of mums and gladiolas in fall colors graced the altar as the couple exchanged wedding bands and vows. Michael Ives was organist for the ceremony accompanying soloist, Dick Baisch as he sang the "Theme from the Godfather" and "The Wedding Song."

ESCORTE UP the aisle by her father, Judy appeared in a full-length gown styled in the Victorian mode with bishop sleeves cuffed in lace, a high ruffled neckline and traditional train.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was caught to a lace-trimmed headpiece which matched her dress. Cascading white mums interspersed with yellow and orange baby roses completed her ensemble.

As her sister's honor attendant, Mrs. Collin Eagle of Ypsilanti donned a moss green gown fashioned with sheer sleeves and a matching sheer ruffle on the bodice. Shades of bittersweet and yellow were used to accent the dress. She wore a shoulder-length veil to harmonize and carried a wicker basket filled with white, yellow and bittersweet mums.

Bridesmaids in identical outfits were the bridegroom's three sisters, Mrs. Rick Phelps of Ann Arbor, and Sherry and Lori Johnson.

FLOWERGIRL WAS the bridegroom's two-year old niece, Tina Phelps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rick Phelps of Ann Arbor. Her frock was a miniature of the senior attendants' dresses.

Steve Burwell of Belleville served as best man with Kevin Gramlich, the bride's brother, Pete Davis and Terry Viers, all of Belleville, ushering.

At the Romulus Progressive Club reception, the bride's mother greeted the 300 guests in a long gown of gold metallic fabric accessorized in gold. Mrs. Johnson, the bridegroom's mother, chose to wear a copper metallic gown with a matching jacket trimmed with a fox fur collar. Both mothers were presented with corsages of white mums and yellow and orange baby roses.

Both young people are 1973 graduates of Belleville High School. The new Mrs. Johnson attended Virginia Farrell Beauty College and is now employed at Linnie's Hair Fashion of Belleville. Her husband is an employee of M & H Electric of Belleville.

All around the town Shower given by attendants

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

The home of Bonnie Pinter on Rawsonville Road, Belleville, was the setting Nov. 2 for a bridal shower honoring her sister, Brenda Oelke, who's to be a December bride. Co-hosting the party were the bride-elect's other future attendants, Betty Burgett of Ypsilanti; Denise Ery of Tecumseh and Peggy Kassuba of Romulus; as well as her sister-in-law, Sharon Oelke of Ypsilanti.

Tagging the event "miscellaneous," the quintet conducted several games of card bingo and awarded prizes to the winners. Green and white, the color scheme of the wedding, was used in decorating. A large horseshoe with a bridge holding a miniature bridal couple was centerpiece at the buffet table. The little lapel favors each guest wore for the door prizes carried out the horseshoe motif. A cake with the inscription "Good luck, Brenda and Kenny" was served for dessert.

The 50 guests, mostly relatives of the young couple, came from Brooklyn, Maybee, Carleton, Spring Arbor, Taylor, Tecumseh, Grass Lake, South Lyon, Ypsilanti, Romulus and Belleville for the occasion.

Brenda will become the bride of Kenneth Ery of Belleville at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville on Dec. 7.

Nature provides setting for November wedding

The pond alongside the Milan Rod and Gun Club in Milan, Ohio served as the background for the Nov. 2 wedding of Cathy Doinidis and Jerry Keelan.

The Rev. Eugene Smercina from Christ Episcopal Church in Huron, Ohio performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Mackiewicz of Huron. The bridegroom is the son of Mr.

and Mrs. Wayne Keelan of Belleville.

FOR HER outdoor wedding the bride chose to wear a cranberry satin floor-length gown with an overlay of off-white lace forming a ruffle at the hemline and at the cuff of the long sleeves. Her headress was formed of off-white baby's breath and Stephanotis. She was given in marriage by her father and young son, Mark.

Two honor attendants were chosen for the occasion. Mrs. Jennifer Szymoniak of Ann Arbor was dressed in a cranberry gown with off-white lace trim while Mrs. Warren Schmidt of Huron donned a dusty rose gown. Both women carried arrangements of fall flowers with matching blooms in their hair.

Jackson Keelan of Ypsilanti served as his brother's best man.

A reception was held in the gun club hall immediately after the nuptial rite. A dinner for the bridal party and out-of-state guests was served later at the Twine House in Huron. The following day the newlyweds and the Keelan family hosted another reception at Woodland Hills Club in Ann Arbor.

After a short honeymoon, the couple took up residence at 902 Wood St., Traverse City where the bridegroom attends North-Western University. The bride is also employed in that city as office manager for Cherry Central, Inc.

Daryle Eric is a 'first'

There are new sounds being heard out at 20132 Sumpter Rd., Belleville — the home of Jim and Pat Shephard — where a new baby has made a twosome into a "family."

The couple's new heir, Daryle Eric, arrived Nov. 11 at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti, his weight being recorded at 7 lbs.-13 oz.

The infant's mother is the former Pat Sliwa. He is the fourth grandchild for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sliwa Sr. of Sumpter Road, and her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shephard of Elwell Road.

He is the great-grandson of Mrs. Kathryn Januszyk, 89, and Mrs. Mary Sliwa, 85.

Taylor-Ferguson exchange vows

At a Nov. 16 ceremony in the home of her parents, Barbara J. Ferguson became the bride of Benny P. Taylor. The 3 p.m. rite was conducted by the Rev. Brown before some 25 relatives and friends.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Schwartz of 45480 Willow Rd., Belleville, the bride wore a blue and white floor-length gown and a matching veil and carried a bouquet of daisies for the single-ring nuptials.

The bridegroom, whose residence at 13335 Rawsonville Rd., Belleville, is the couple's new home, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Taylor of 3177 48th Ave., St. Petersburg, Fla.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose Marie Barnett of Romulus as her maid of honor. She donned a pink and white floor-length frock accessorized in pink.

Fred Barnett of Romulus was best man.

Twelve-year old Teresa Ferguson was her mother's flowergirl in long pink frock accented by a bouquet of blue and white flowers.

A reception attended by 55 guests followed the ceremony.

A Belleville High School graduate, the bride is employed at Marsh Plating in Ypsilanti. Her husband served for two years with the U.S. Marine Corps and is now employed at PRC Sales, Inc. in Southfield.

Area couples announce future wedding plans

Terzieff - Lunsford

The engagement of their daughter, Dawn K. Terzieff, to Curtis Dean Lunsford is announced by Mrs. and Mrs. Christy S. Terzieff of 10001 Clayton St., Belleville.

The bride-elect graduated from Belleville High School and is now employed at Van Buren Convalescent Center in Belleville.

Her fiancé, who resides at 46131 Village Green, Belleville, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nemo P. Lunsford of 3423 Carpenter Rd., Ypsilanti. A graduate of Huron High School in Ann Arbor, he is employed at Berkly Dry Wall of Detroit.

A May 17 wedding is being planned.

Silvey - Hunter

The engagement of their daughter, Patricia, to Harry Michael Hunter is being announced by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon C. Silvey of 36831 Porter St., Romulus.

Miss Silvey graduated from Romulus High School and is currently attending Eastern Michigan University.

Her fiancé, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Hunter of 13651 Kent Dr., Romulus, is a Romulus High School graduate now employed by the Ford Motor Co. at Dearborn.

As yet no date has been set for the wedding.

Shields - Uhrin

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn R. Shields of 41641 Willis Rd., Belleville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan Lynn, to Michael, John Uhrin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Uhrin of 4396 Ninth St., Ecorse.

Miss Shields is a student at Belleville High School. Her fiancé, who resides at 4925 Hazel, Dearborn Heights, attended Ecorse High School and is employed at Fontana Bros., Detroit.

A June 14 wedding at St. Stephen's Church in Allen Park is planned.

'Chrismon tree' is explained

The November meeting of the Home Arts Club was conducted by Sharon Matthews, president, and included discussion on membership as well as next month's Christmas party. Virginia Turney invited the group to hold the Dec. 9 festivities at her home on Elwell Road.

Twenty members answered roll call with seven guests signing the guest book: Bobbie Walunas, Myrtle Young, Betty Vincent, Sherry Budd, Jean Stone, Marilyn Prill and Ann Szilins.

Mrs. Turney, program chairman, then introduced the evening's speaker, Ginny Kohr, who discussed the meaning of the "Chrismon tree" and how it is assembled. Using a small shrub as a visual aid, she explained what each of the ornaments on it signified.

ALL CHRISTIAN symbols and all made of white styrofoam accented in gold, the ornaments included the fish, the earliest sign of Christianity; the shepherd's staff or cross; the anchor cross, standing for Christian hope and the cross over the world, signifying Christ throughout the universe.

The "Chrismon" meaning Christ's monogram tree, she said, was the brainchild of Frances Spencer, who first developed the creation for the Lutheran church which she attended.

Mrs. Kohr stressed that the symbols must be used on a live tree and that they must be done in white and gold in order to be a true

"Chrismon" work. After Christmas, she said, the trees branches are trimmed off and the trunk is cut and notched in order to form a cross. The cross is then saved for the Lenten season when it is draped with purple cloth and a crown of thorns, purple cloth and a crown of thorns.

Two other guests included on the evening program were Bob and Mary Ann Wagner, proprietors of the Village Haberdashery in Belleville. Wagner spoke briefly to the club and then exhibited a number of jewelry ensembles as well as rings and bracelets which he sells in his store.

ALSO ON display were several artistic works — weavings, macrame, necklaces, needlepoint, cone wreaths, Christmas ornaments, etc. which were done by local women either to sell at the Holiday Arts and Crafts Fair Nov. 23 or as their own projects for the season.

Concluding the evening was a social hour, over dessert, tea and coffee. Hostesses were Charlotte Budd, Phillis Breithaupt and Beverly Eichold.

Then will I go unto the altar of God, unto God my exceeding joy; yea, upon the harp will I praise thee, O God my God.

For parties, dinner

Crustaceans are simple, but quick treat

Is it your turn to entertain? If you are having friends, in, or returning hospitality to relatives or business associates, here's an idea for you that is elegant but won't ruin the month's food budget. And if you, like most homemakers today, also are a full-time career person, the chances are that you have little time for elaborate cooking preparation for either family dining or entertaining. The big question usually is how to serve foods that are nourishing and satisfying, and, on occasion, fancy and fabulous as well. You'll be happy to know that shrimp, those tasty little crustaceans, are good beginners, smooth go-betweens, and easily are souped up, tossed, or prepared to reign at breakfast, brunch, lunch, dinner, or snack time.

Nutritionists say shrimp can make a major contribution toward well balanced meals. Shrimp contains a high amount of quality protein, is an excellent source of many essential trace minerals, and has small amounts of several vitamins.

Let your creativeness show when you serve shrimp pie. Only you will know how easy it is to prepare and how little cooking the gourmet entree takes. The shrimp reign in a savory mixture of sauteed onion, celery soup, and mushrooms, seasoned with Worcestershire sauce and pepper. Mashed potatoes, highlighted with parsley, from the pie crust for the shrimp mixture. Melted butter or margarine and paprika add color and flavor to the potatoes before baking.

About 20 minutes oven-time, just until the potatoes are hot and lightly brown, is all the additional cooking needed, and you are ready to serve this glamorous entree.

Left-over cooked peas or green beans may be substituted for the mushrooms, if you wish, and the mashed potatoes may be prepared from either raw potatoes or instant packaged ones.

SHRIMP PIE

¾ pound cooked, peeled, cleaned shrimp, fresh or frozen
3 cans (4½ ounce each) shrimp
2 tablespoons margarine or cooking oil
1 cup sliced onion
1 can (10½ ounce) condensed cream of celery soup
1 can (4 ounce) mushrooms, stems & pieces, drained
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash pepper
2 cups seasoned mashed potatoes
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Melted butter or margarine
Paprika
Thaw frozen shrimp or drain canned shrimp and rinse in cold water. Melt margarine or heat oil in heavy skillet; add onions; cook over moderate heat, stirring often, until tender but not brown. Combine all ingredients except potatoes, parsley, melted butter or margarine, and paprika. Combine and mix potatoes and parsley. Spoon or flute a high standing border of potatoes around inside edge of well-greased 10-by 1-inch pie plate. Brush with melted butter or margarine. Pour shrimp mixture into center. Sprinkle potatoes with paprika. Set pie plate on a sheet of foil (to catch any drippings) and place in a hot oven, 400 degrees. Bake 20 minutes or until potatoes are hot and lightly browned. Makes six servings.

Note: ½ cup left-over cooked peas or green beans or sauteed fresh mushroom pieces may be substituted for the canned mushrooms.

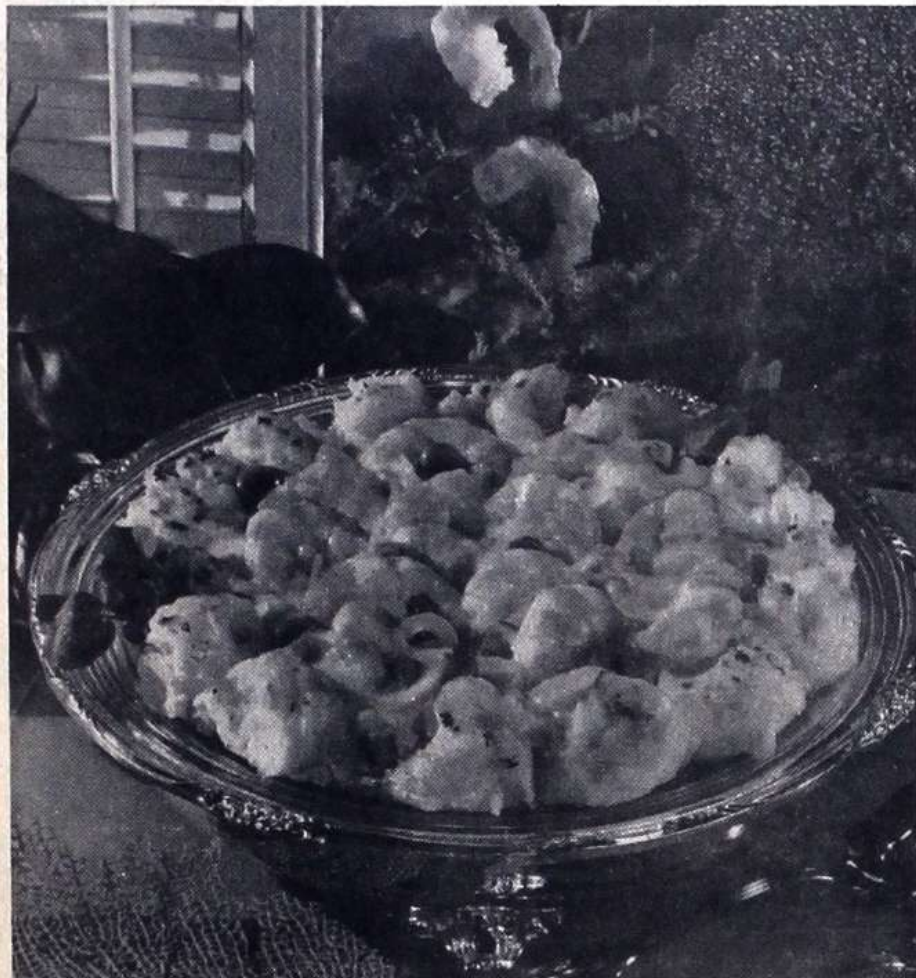

CURRIED SHRIMP WITH HOT MARMALADE SOY DIP

2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen breaded shrimp
½ cup butter or margarine
1 teaspoon curry powder
Hot marmalade soy dip
Cream together the butter or margarine and curry powder. Spread curry butter over both sides of frozen shrimp. Arrange on shallow baking pan. Broil about 3 inches from heat, for 8 to 10 minutes or until hot and browned, turning once. Serve with hot marmalade soy dip. Makes six servings.

Hot Marmalade Soy Dip

One-third cup orange marmalade
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup soy sauce
1 clove garlic, minced
Dash ginger
1 teaspoon cornstarch
Combine ingredients; mix well. Cook, stirring constantly, until clear and thickened. Serve hot with shrimp. Makes about ¾ cup of dip.

SEAFOOD MAGIC—Shrimp not only offer a good source of vitamins, but are quick and easy to prepare. Whip up a shrimp pie using mashed or instant potatoes as the crust and treat your family to a new experience. Or make a batch of curried shrimp and a hot marmalade soy dip for something different at dinner. Either way with shrimp in the menu, they're sure to be crowd pleasers.

Shrimp meal is a special event

Succulent shrimp makes a meal a gala event. If you've been limiting your enjoyment of this favorite shellfish to very special parties, now is the time to indulge your shrimp tooth.

Treat the family. Serve shrimply delicious dishes when you have friends in for informal parties.

The supply of shrimp in all its convenient forms—fresh, frozen, and breaded—is abundant, so you'll be seeing special prices at food stores. Looking ahead to the holidays, now is the time to take advantage of those specials and stock your freezer.

For busy homemakers, shrimp is a boon. It takes so little time to prepare but the results are extra special. In combination with other ingredients, a little shrimp makes a hearty meal, even allows for seconds.

Now is the time to get acquainted with some of the exciting ways shrimp is served in the picturesque places where shrimp boats bring in the catch. Along the Gulf coast, spicy soups and hearty shrimp and rice dishes aren't saved for company, they're everyday treats. Sail westward to sunny Baja California, and you'll find popular shrimp served in imaginative seafood salads or main dishes with a Mexican flavor.

CONQUISTADOR SHRIMP

¼ cup olive oil
1 cup chopped onion
3 cloves garlic, crushed
¼ cup tomato paste
2 tablespoons chili powder
2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon leaf oregano
½ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ teaspoon basil leaves
½ teaspoon cayenne pepper
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup chicken or fish stock
1 cup dry white wine
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
3 large tomatoes peeled, seeded and chopped
1 square (1 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate
2 lbs. frozen breaded shrimp
8 cups cooked rice

In a saucepan saute onion and garlic in olive oil until tender. Stir in tomato paste, chili powder, cinnamon, oregano, cloves, basil, cayenne pepper and salt. Add chicken stock, white wine, lemon juice, parsley and tomatoes and bring to a boil. Simmer about 40 minutes, stirring occasionally. Blend in chocolate until melted. Prepare breaded shrimp according to package directions. To serve: Pour sauce over hot rice and arrange shrimp on top. Makes about 4 cups of sauce. Serves 8 to 10.

SHRIMP JAMBALAYA

1½ lbs. frozen or fresh, peeled and deveined shrimp
3 slices bacon, cut up
1½ cups chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper

3 cloves garlic, crushed
3 tablespoons tomato paste
1 tablespoon paprika
1½ teaspoons leaf thyme
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon red pepper
2 cans (1 lb. each) tomatoes, broken up
3 cups cooked white rice
½ lb. cooked ham, diced
½ cup chopped parsley
Boil shrimp. In a large skillet partially cook bacon and add onion, green pepper and garlic, sauteing until tender. Blend in tomato paste, paprika, leaf thyme, salt and pepper. Stir in tomatoes, rice, cooked shrimp, ham and parsley. Heat mixture to serving temperature. Makes about eight cups.

Following last election

Census conducts survey for voter profile

In an effort to provide a detailed profile of the typical American voters, the Bureau of Census of the U.S. Department of Commerce this week is conducting a survey in Western Wayne County and across the country.

Census-takers will ask such questions as, "Did you vote Nov. 5?" and "Were you registered but didn't vote?" of all persons 18 and older in a sample of households in this area.

Robert G. McWilliam, director of the Bureau's regional office in Detroit, said no questions will be asked about party affiliation or for whom a person voted. The survey is expected to provide a voter profile through information regarding age, sex, residence, education, labor force status and family income.

In a similar survey following the 1972 presidential election, about 63 per cent of the civilian population of voting age, except persons living in institutions, were reported to have voted.

The voting questions are in addition to the usual census questions asked in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor. Results of this monthly survey provide a continuing picture of the economic health of the country. The September survey showed both employment and unemployment rising, with total employment increasing by 350,000 from August to September, while the unemployment rate rose to 5.8 per cent compared with 5.4 per cent in August. Information supplied for the survey is confidential and results are used only to compile statistical totals, a Bureau spokesman said.

For CETA city jobs

Five communities to share federal funds

Five cities and townships in Western Wayne County will share a total of $183,014 in additional job funds available under the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA). A formula for allotting CETA funds among 40 communities in Wayne County was approved by the Human Resources Committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners. Board approval was not required. The committee voted to use the same distribution formula under which the 40 localities shared a total of nearly $3.4 million in CETA funds last July. The additional funds became available through passage of a supplemental Title II CETA appropriation by Congress at the request of President Ford. Allocations will range from a high of $200,603 for Highland Park to a low of $2,881 for Grosse Pointe Shores. Amounts are based on the unemployment rates and the number of economically disadvantaged families in each community. Detroit, Dearborn and Livonia, as cities with populations of more than 100,000 received direct grants from Washington and thus do not share in the county-administered grant. The Human Resources Committee also made a new option available to the local communities, said County Commissioner Tom F. Taylor (D-Westland), the committee chairman. In addition to regular job classifications, communities now will have the option of hiring unemployed residents as "public service interns" at a salary of $8,000 a year. Participating communities will be expected to assist such interns in seeking permanent in private enterprise or other agencies, Taylor added. The allocation formula and the new intern concept were recommended by the Wayne County Office of Manpower which administers federally-funded employment programs for most communities. The five Western Wayne County communities and their allocations are: Belleville, $14,894; Romulus, $83,662; Huron Township, $21,942; Sumpter Township, $27,458; and Van Buren Township, $35,058.

Artist sculpts steel

A Romulus resident is learning the art of sculpture at Michigan State University this fall, and will probably display some of his work at a student art show held there in the spring. Bill Abler, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Abler of 24711 Pennsylvania, Romulus, is an MSU sophomore majoring in art practice and psychology. He is a 1970 graduate of Cody High School Detroit and won honorable mention for his art exhibit at a student show on the MSU campus last spring. All art majors at the East Lansing college are required to take the sculpture class and are given a wide latitude in expressing their own ideas, according to Mel Leiserowitz, associate professor of art. Leiserowitz said wood and steel sculpture provides students with an approach to formal problems in the art by teaching techniques useful in both figurine and non-figurine art. The instructor added that his students spend half of the term working with steel and the other half with wood. He estimated that each student will create 15 or more projects in wood and about half as many in steel. When the sculptures are completed they belong to the students, and selected pieces are exhibited each spring in a special student art show.

4-Hers elect slate

The High Flyers 4-H Club of Belleville has elected a new slate of officers. The club's new president is Connie Cook. Other officers elected at the club's recent meeting were: Susan Rochowak, vice-president; DeAnna Gillingham, secretary; Kathy Wisneski, treasurer; and Suzy Besson, historian. Following the election of officers, club members enjoyed a Halloween hayride party.

A SUCCESSFUL WALK-A-THON—A community-wide walk-a-thon initiated by Belleville area students for the March of Dimes attracted more than 500 walkers and $10,000 in pledges. Happily checking over collection reports on submitted pledges are (from left) Frank Buhro, president of the student council at North Junior High School; Dale E. Kaulitz,

Child center is topic of rezoning request

A zoning variance to permit the construction of a child care center in Van Buren Township will be one of five zoning appeals considered by the Van Buren Township Board of Zoning Appeals when it meets at 8 p.m. Dec. 3.

The Board of Zoning Appeals will meet at the township hall, 46425 Tyler Rd. west of Belleville Road, Van Buren Township.

John L. Ramsey of 46040 Lake Villa Dr. Belleville, and Charles Paas of 16280 Martinsville Rd., Belleville, plan the construction of a child care center on the south service drive of I-94 near Haggerty Road.

The site for the proposed child care center is presently zoned residential.

Other matters up for the approval of the board of zoning appeals are:

- Lucille Mann of 41761 Van Born Rd., Belleville, who seeks permission to store cars county police officers pulled off the highway. This matter was tabled at the previous session of the board for a legal opinion from the township attorney on the storing of cars by the petitioner.
- Woodrow Sloan of 11701 Hoyt, Belleville, seeks authorization to operate a small ice making business in his garage.
- Century 21 Venoy, Inc., of 32508 Michigan Ave., a real estate firm, is asking the board of zoning appeals for permission to put a smaller house than called for in the township ordinance laws in a residential zone.
- Oramel Rome of 50946 Martz Rd., Belleville, is requesting approval of his petition to split his property in a multiple-dwelling zone to three lots for single-family homes.

Farmers can reclaim losses

The difference between a profit or a loss may depend, for some farmers, on whether or not they report their crop losses to the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office.

The area offices of ASCS are located at 3716 Newberry St., Wayne, and at 1405 S. Harrison Rd., East Lansing.

According to Dorn Diehl, state executive director of the Lansing office of ASCS, the current farm law authorizes payments to producers of what and feed grains who are prevented from planting or who suffer substantial losses in crop production.

A feed grain or wheat allotment must be established on a farm and plantings or production affected by a natural disaster.

Natural disasters generally are defined as extremes in weather conditions such as excessive rains, drought, flood, frost and other conditions beyond a person's control.

Diehl said that one or more of these conditions has existed at different times during the current crop year in Michigan.

Romulus students appear in 'Pooh'

Five Romulus area students will be participating in a Madonna College student production of "Winnie the Pooh" scheduled for presentation Dec. 5-7 in the Madonna Activities Center, 36600 Schoolcraft Rd., Livonia.

The Romulus students in the play are Debbie Dick as Christopher Robin; Rochelle Ellison and Carmella Newbill as rabbits; and Patricia Glaab, a skunk. Larry Hearn is acting as assistant director.

"Winnie the Pooh" is being produced by members of the children's literature and drama class at the Livonia college.

The 3-act play will be opened to the public and produced at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 5 and again at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Dec. 7.

Tickets will be 75 cents. Further information concerning tickets is available through the college publicity department at 425-8000, ext. 17.

HIGH-STEPPER—Taking his place in the ranks of the 250-member University of Michigan Marching Band this year is Johnny Klonaris of 44849 Robson, Belleville. Robson, a member of the largest marching band in the Ann Arbor college's history, will be in his place with the band when Michigan plays Ohio State in Columbus, Ohio on Nov. 23.

Christmas Seals fight lung disease

The 1974 Christmas Seals, currently in the mails to residents and businesses in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties, are sent out to represent the joys of Christmas.

The American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan stated that Christmas Seals have been a tradition in the United States and other countries for decades to support the fight against lung diseases such as tuberculosis (TB), emphysema and asthma.

In its 1974 campaign for fund support, the association statistically showed that 39,000 people are known to have TB, 176,000 are recovered TB patients with 3,000 persons relapsing each year, and 217,000 live in close contact with newly-found cases.

AT VEHICLE CHECK LANE — A Michigan State Police trooper, one of 46 recently added to departmental ranks, interviews a motorist at a vehicle check lane. Service troopers are assigned various duties freeing regular troopers for other field work.

With safety checks

Service troopers help police

Since graduation in early September, the first class of Michigan State Police Service troopers is proving to be an effective work force, Col. George L. Halverson, department director, said this week.

"According to reports from our field officers, these young men are doing very well on all their assignments," Halverson said. "We've been especially impressed with their work in the vehicle check lane program where they're playing an active role in aiding team members."

The new service trooper position was established in early 1974 replacing the former cadet position. Halverson explained that his department believed it would be advantageous to have young people introduced to state police career opportunities early in their employment experience and expanded the cadet concept to the 17 to 20-year-old job market.

Forty-six candidates successfully completed the initial class and have been assigned post duty in all eight state police districts throughout the state.

Following satisfactory service, these officers, who range in age at enlistment from 17 to 20, will become eligible for regular trooper training when they reach 21, Halverson added.

County's consumers to get more attention

Suspected ripoff artists and cases of consumer fraud in Western Wayne County will be given more attention beginning this week when the Wayne County Consumer Protection Agency expands its office hours to accommodate all residents of the county.

The office, located at 356 E. Congress in downtown Detroit, will be open until 7:30 every Thursday night and on Saturdays from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Previously, office hours were limited from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

Consumers with problems can visit to the offices or call 224-2150 during the expanded hours.

The Wayne County Consumer Protection Agency handles complaints by mediation, civil or criminal litigation. Since its official opening in August, the agency has received a steady flow of 100 to 150 complaints a week.

In addition to the new downtown office hours, the agency recently began sending staff investigators periodically to out-county city halls to take complaints from local residents.

Alan Kellman, Wayne County Consumer Protection Agency director, said the new programs are part of an effort to make the agency's free legal consumer advice easily available to every Wayne County resident.

barn fires, three trailer fires, one house fire and one tank truck fire, said department officials.

In addition, the department had two false alarms and rendered assistance to the Sumpter Township Fire Department as well as three assistance calls for the township's Fire No. 2, located on Ecorse Road, west of Belleville Road. Fire Department No. 2 reported 29 fire runs in October.

VB fire fighters answer 35 calls

The Van Buren Township Fire Department No. 1, located in the central business district of the City of Belleville, answered 35 fire calls during the month of October.

The fire runs included 16 brush and grass fires, four

Written balloting is passe

Instead of paper balloting this year in the selection of officers for the student council at North Junior High School in Belleville, students used one of Van Buren Township's voting machines.

Frank Hill, social studies teacher at the school, coordinated efforts by the school to get voting machines from the township administration, which donated the voting machine and booth.

The township has two voting precincts located at the Belleville High School.

The new officers elected by the students are: Frank Buhno, president; Kimberly Sterling, vice-president; and Jeannie Cox, secretary.

"The machine made it real, the students were very excited," said one teacher after the election of student council officers.

School officials issued special thanks to Van Buren Township Clerk Patricia Cullin; Edwin Beck Jr., supervisor of buildings and grounds; and Ray O'Neil, Belleville postmaster, for their community assistance.

Jaycees, fire fighters donate cash for burns

Following a state-wide recent joint fund-raising effort, Jaycees and fire fighters in Western Wayne County and throughout the state donated $113,000 to the National Institute for Burn Medicine (NIBM) at the Jaycee's Fall Board Meeting in Traverse City.

The $113,000 was collected by Jaycees and fire fighters in 96 Michigan communities during the months of September and October. More than 150 additional Jaycee chapters, still in the process of running "Burn Awareness" and "Bucks for Burns" projects, will be making contributions to the Institute in the months to come. Member of the International Association of Fire Fighters and volunteer fire fighters are co-sponsors of the fund-raising, public awareness effort in most of these communities.

On presenting the check to Institute founder and president, Dr. Irving Feller, Michigan Jaycee President Tom Ritter said: "This contribution represents the first portion of our $400,000 commitment to the NIBM's fight against the burn problem. I am confident we will meet that year-long goal by the end of May."

On hand for the check presentation was 12-year-old Joanne Thomas, the young burn victim featured in the NIBM-produced film, "A Fighting Chance," narrated by George C. Scott. Joanne, who suffered a 68 per cent burn when neighborhood playmates attempted to relight "dead" fireworks with gasoline, received a standing ovation from the more than 800 Jaycees and Jaycee Auxiliary members present during the ceremony.

WINTER'S JUST AROUND THE CORNER.

SO IS NASSAU.

It's getting to be the time of year of icy sidewalks and drafty necks. And it's about time to start planning a nice warm escape. Like Nassau. Warm, foreign and only 2½ hours away. What more could you want except a good deal in the price?

Air Jamaica has put together a few good deals into one booklet. For instance, only $193* can fly you there and back, give you 4 days and 3 nights in a hotel and a lot of special extras like complimentary tennis courts and a Sound and Light Show. If you want to stay longer, we have 8-day packages starting as low as $237*.

Nassau days are filled with swimming, water skiing, snorkeling. If you ever get off the beach, there's golf and tennis, shopping for duty-free treasures or snapping up pictures of old forts.

Nassau nights are filled with duck à l'orange, steel bands and calypso and an elegant gambling casino where, if you're lucky, you could win enough for a return trip.

Air Jamaica flights are filled with Reggae music and island warmth. You'll enjoy a refreshing Rum Bamboozle, free to all passengers, and the only fashion show in flight modelled by our Rare Tropical Birds.

For more information about what you'll get, send for our free booklet. But send soon because these packages are only available through December 15th. And that's just around the corner too.
